EXPERTS DECLARE MINE WAS "SALTED"

STEAMBOAT MOUNTAIN SHAREHOLDERS MEET

Action Will Be Brought Against Stevens and Greenwalt If They Can Be Located

Vancouver, June 27.—"We are very anxious to get hold of Stevens and Greenwalt and if we can secure their presence here we will give them an opportunity to explain how it is that the rock in place at Steamboat Mountain carries sixty per cent values while the wash at the same place runs to high values. You can get as high values as you wish in the wash; it all depends on how much of the wash is tested."

This, in brief, is the story of Steamboat Mountain. Gold Mines Limited, the pioneer discovery of the Steamboat Mountain district, as it was related last night by C. D. Rand, fiscal agent of the company, at an emergency meeting of shareholders held at the Vancouver stock exchange.

Despite the body blow received by the company at Steamboat, Mr. Rand expressed the belief that it would "come back" and the losses it had sustained might be recovered through the securing of some other mineral property. This suggestion was assented to by the shareholders and the company is not yet prepared to go to the honeyard. But before any asset in the shape of another property is placed to the credit of the company an action will be launched against Stevens and Greenwalt in the courts to recover the shares they still hold in the company and for damages because of alleged fraudulent representations concerning the values contained in the Steamboat ore.

Mr. Rand added that in the opinion of the expert engineers who had but a few days completed a thorough examination of the property it had been scientifically "salted."

Declaring that he was willing to subscribe $500 to a fund devoted to tracing Stevens and Greenwalt in order that they might be brought back to Vancouver, A. E. Woods, managing director of the V. W. & Y. railway and a shareholder in the company, expressed the opinion that everything possible should be done to get hold of the two men.

Mr. Woods' views were expressed after the whole painful story had been placed before the meeting by Mr. Rand. The suggestion that Stevens and Greenwalt be located and brought to Vancouver met with the hearty approval of the meeting.

"We are very well aware how difficult it is to prove a mine has been 'salted,'" remarked R. S. Lennie, secretary of the company, "but within the past few days we have secured what, in our opinion, is sufficient evidence to cover the situation in this case. The directors have made every possible effort to locate Stevens and Greenwalt, and we would be very glad indeed to get hold of them."

During the course of his statement, Mr. Rand said that during the past few weeks some of the best mining engineers had thoroughly examined the scene of the alleged fraud, and as well as every other property in the district on which any work had been done. They had reported that the values found did not justify any expenditure on development work. They had spent over two weeks in the district. It was declared by these engineers that the gold in the rock in place at the Steamboat mountain gold mines property, running 60 cents to the ton, was a different gold to that found in the wash which carried the famous high values, and they assert that the gold in the wash had not come from any vein they were able to find on the claims.

AUTOMOBILE RUN DOWN BY TRAIN

Doctor Returning From Call Is Killed—Companion Probably Fatally Injured

Oakland, Cal., June 27.—Dr. Weston H. Rice, local agent for the Southern Pacific, was killed, and F. C. Wells, receiving teller of the Central National Bank, was probably fatally injured when the automobile in which Rice and Wells were riding collided with a suburban train at 2 o'clock this morning. The men were returning from a professional call Dr. Rice had made in Berkeley. Rice died on the operating table at the receiving hospital, without regaining consciousness.

Wells is in a serious condition at the hospital. His skull is supposed to be fractured and he is suffering from other injuries. Death is expected at any hour. Dr. Rice leaves a wife and child. Wells has relatives in the east.

SMALLPOX AT DAWSON.
Ottawa, June 27.—Smallpox is reported from Dawson City, where there are 37 cases.

FARMERS FACE LABOR PROBLEM

TASK OF HARVESTING GRAIN WILL BE BIG ONE

Ontario, Which Has Heretofore
Furnished Help, Experiences Shortage

Toronto, June 27.—"The greatest problem before Canada to-day is how to harvest the western wheat crop," said C. E. E. Usher, general passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who is in the city from Winnipeg to-day. "Ontario has supplied 75 per cent of the harvesters help of the west heretofore, but at present not more than one-half of what is needed for Ontario alone has been supplied. The task of caring for the western grain crop of 1911 will be a gigantic one and at present it is giving western people grave concern."

Saskatchewan Needs 20,000.
Regina, Sask., June 27.—An estimate from an official source says 20,000 harvest hands will be required to handle the Saskatchewan crop this year, the yield being greater by 50 per cent than last year, when the number was 10,547.

According to figures just compiled by the government there are 809 elevators operating in Saskatchewan with a capacity of 24,468,000 bushels. A Marquis wheat on the McKay farms at Indian Head has headed out, seven days ahead of last year. It is 32 to 35 inches long, the heads being 3 inches.

Canada's Position.
Ottawa, June 27.—Canada, according to figures compiled by the trade and commerce department, took seventh place last year as a wheat producing country.

NO MERCY SHOWN WOMEN OR CHILDREN

Many Albanians Killed by
Turks—Thousands of Refugees Are Starving

Vienna, June 27.—Reliable advices have been received here from Albania that the situation there is critical. Turkey has massed 50,000 troops within a day's march of the Montenegrin frontier.

Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, who has just arrived at Vienna from Cetinje, after traversing Albania, describes the conditions as intolerable. The Turks, he says, are devastating whole districts, killing prisoners, refugees women and children, burning houses and crops and blowing up churches. A large body of Albanian women and children is now caught between two warring armies of the Turkish army, and escape is impossible.

Mr. Crane adds that 25,000 women and children have fled to Montenegro and are starving there, their only means of subsistence being boiled grass and various roots they are able to gather.

Brantford, Ont., June 27.—Rev. Dr. Martin, convener of the foreign missionary committee of the Presbyterian church in Canada, died here yesterday.

AMENDMENTS TO THE VETO BILL

Lord Lansdowne Would Exclude Home Rule From Scope of Measure

London, June 27.—Parliament re-assembled yesterday after the coronation recess and the struggle over the veto power of the Lords will be immediately resumed.

In the House of Lords, Lord Lansdowne gave notice of amendments to the veto bill, providing for the exclusion from that measure of bills such as that relating to Irish Home Rule, for a joint sitting in case of a disagreement between the two Houses and for a referendum in other cases.

As it is certain that the government will not accept these amendments, it is believed that another deadlock will result.

"THE BASELESS FABRIC OF A DREAM"

Note—A telegraphic dispatch says a proposition was made in official circles in Great Britain that the Mayors of all capitals of dominions and provinces should be entitled to the prefix "Lord." But the movement was nipped in the bud by matter-of-fact officialdom as impracticable.

NO DATE SET FOR RECIPROCITY VOTE

CHAIRMAN PENROSE'S
PROPOSAL DEFEATED

Efforts Will Be Made to Block
Progress of Trade Agreement in U. S. Senate

Washington, D. C., June 27.—Out of the smoke of battle over the Root amendment to the wool pulp and print paper schedule of the Canadian reciprocity bill which the senate rejected yesterday, came a widening of the scope of the debate over the bill, beginning to-day. Senator Townsend was prepared to deliver a pro-reciprocity speech to-day.

An attempt by Chairman Penrose to fix July 24 for a vote on the Canadian bill was defeated in the senate through Senator La Follette's objection. The vote indicated that a portion of the Republican insurgents and some Democrats would fight to have the wool revision and the free list bills passed first so that the president must act on them before the senate passes the reciprocity bill.

SHOCK PROVES FATAL.

Montreal, June 27.—Neil Goggin, an electrician, 30 years of age, who was employed as an operator in Electric & Water Company at Cote-des-Melges, received an electric shock while at work on Sunday, and died in an ambulance while being taken to the Royal hospital. Goggin, whose home was in Vancouver, B. C., was to have left the employ of the Saragay company yesterday to enter that of another company.

ALL ABOARD VACCINATED.

Montreal, June 27.—The Allan Line steamer Corbiere arrived in port yesterday from Liverpool after being detained at the quarantine station for ten hours. A case of suspected smallpox was discovered amongst the stowage passengers, and nearly two hundred passengers who had come more or less into contact on the voyage with the suspect were detained. Everyone on the ship, including the officers, were vaccinated.

SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Montreal, June 27.—With four bullets in his head and one in his right hand, Joseph Coutinbo, 23 years old, was brought to Notre Dame hospital. Joe Vallancourt, principal of a small business college, is held by the police in connection with the shooting. Coutinbo was Vallancourt in St. Lawrence in the afternoon and was invited to Vallancourt's room to have a drink. On their arrival there Vallancourt acted strangely, and Coutinbo attempted to leave, when, it is said, Vallancourt drew a revolver and shot at him.

WILL BUY ISLAND TIMBER LANDS

Representative of English Syndicate to Close Deal for 20,000 Acres

Vancouver, June 27.—J. E. Porter of London, England, who is here, will today close a deal for the purchase of twenty thousand acres of timber lands near Alberni, Vancouver Island. He is acting on behalf of a syndicate of capitalists in England and the timber will be held as an investment. Mr. Porter is buying from Vancouver owners.

He is a wealthy London wine merchant. He recently returned from Vancouver Island, where he made an examination of the timber limits.

EIGHT INJURED DURING FUNERAL

Electrical Storm Causes Panic and Women Are Crushed in Rush for Shelter

Kittanning, Pa., June 27.—Eight women mourners were injured yesterday in a panic caused by a severe electrical storm during the funeral of George Serene at West Kittanning. The mourners were filling out of the house to board carriages for the cemetery when the storm broke. The vivid electrical display and loud peals of thunder frightened some of the women and they made a rush to re-enter the house. In a moment there was a struggling crowd in the front yard. When calm was restored eight of the women were so badly hurt that medical attention was necessary.

AUSTRALIA'S POPULATION.

Melbourne, Australia, June 27.—The new census gives the Commonwealth of Australia, consisting of New South Wales, Victoria, Queensland, South Australia, West Australia and Tasmania, a population of 4,449,456, against 3,773,801 in 1901.

T. M. DALY'S SUCCESSOR.

Winnipeg, June 27.—It is announced that Judge Walker, senior county court judge for some years, will succeed the late Police Magistrate Daly.

RAILWAY COMMISSION.

Ottawa, June 27.—The railway commission has completed arrangements for their tour of the West. They expect to be in Vancouver on August 13th.

GOING NORTH TO INSPECT RAILWAY

COLLINGWOOD SCHREIBER
ON WAY TO PRINCE RUPERT

Will Go Over Completed Portion of Coast Section of Grand Trunk Pacific

Vancouver, June 17.—Collingwood Schreiber of Ottawa, general consulting engineer to the Dominion government, and government chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, is here on his way to Prince Rupert where he will meet B. B. Kelliker, chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. They will inspect the completed 100 mile coast section as well as the inland section now under construction between Copper River and Aldermere.

Mr. Schreiber is the "grand old man" of railways, his career almost embracing the history of railway building in the dominion. He is now in his eighty-first year, but would readily pass for 20 years younger. Mentally and physically active, he is still able to render the government excellent service due to his remarkable experience. His career is in many respects unique in railway annals. He came out from England in 1852 to assist in the building of a railway between Toronto and Hamilton. Later he was for many years chief engineer of the Intercolonial railway, extending from Point Levis, opposite Quebec, to Halifax, and directed its entire construction. Subsequently he was deputy minister of railways and government chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, his chief being Sir Charles Tupper.

The veteran railway man does not believe in any fixed age limit for retirement. "I feel just as strong and vigorous as I did at forty," said he to-day in reply to a question. "What is the elixir of youth? Nothing but hard work. At least I have found this true as regards myself. I would 'rust' if I were not kept busy. People who usually sign their death warrants, I believe that a man should work as long as he is physically and mentally able. There is nothing like keeping one's mind occupied. I have no fads about diet. I am able to eat anything."

NEW FRENCH BANK.

Montreal, June 27.—The organization of the new French bank, the Banque Internationale de Canada, was completed yesterday. Randolph Forget is president. Out of a capital of $10,000,000, $7,675,000 is subscribed by French groups of stockholders and the balance by Canadians.

INVESTIGATING ISLAND IRON

AMERICAN CAPITALISTS
TO VISIT DEPOSITS

Works Will Be Erected If
Tests by Expert Prove Satisfactory

Vancouver, June 27.—A party of American capitalists interested in the developing of the iron deposits in Vancouver Island left last night for Campbell river en route to their camps, 24 miles inland, in the vicinity of the upper Quinsam lake and Buttle lake. Their lands comprise thousands of acres held under lease from the E. & N. railway. Thirty men have been engaged in opening up these deposits during the past eighteen months. The results are said to have revealed the existence of large bodies of magnetite ore, suitable for making the finest kind of steel. If the properties pass the final test at the hands of a Pittsburgh expert accompanying the visitors to Vancouver Island, it will likely be the home of a vast iron and steel industry. Ideal conditions obtain owing to the facility existing for securing coal and coke for fluxing purposes.

The members of the syndicate now visiting the island consists of Messrs. J. B. Hawkins, L. C. Barnett, W. H. Cole, of Duluth; H. W. Stone, Minneapolis; Roy W. Jones, Seattle, and the expert, Walter Croze, of Pittsburgh. Mr. Jones is a former lieutenant-governor of Minnesota.

They are all familiar with the resources of Vancouver Island, having made frequent trips there during the past two years.

They also own extensive timber limits near Nanos and Comox, as well as in the vicinity of the iron deposits which are remarkable for their high percentage of iron as well as their freedom from sulphur. The members of the syndicate will spend a week on the island.

Winnipeg, June 27.—Forward, a new town on the branch of the Canadian Pacific, now building west from Weyburn, Sask., to Lethbridge, Alta., has decided to move lock, stock and barrel to a point two and one half miles west of the present location where the new Canadian Northern branch running in a similar direction will intersect the Canadian Pacific.

The Forward Board of Trade has the matter in hand, and is arranging with a local contractor to move them. The town is to be on the new site before the threshing starts.

HARBOR RAILWAY AND LEGAL POINTS

PROPOSED PACT IS SEVERELY RIDDLED

City's Legal Adviser Finds
Many Objections to Proposed
Terms of Agreement

When the Victoria Harbor Railway Company approached the city council with a view to obtaining the necessary franchise for the inauguration of their system it was suggested to them that they would probably have to modify their claims as set forth in the draft agreement.

As is well known, no action was taken by the council in connection with the matter as it was felt that the aldermen should have ample opportunity to sleep over the project before committing themselves to anything. In that wakeful sleep the aldermen have been aided in acquiring convictions regarding the proposal by the city's legal adviser, and now it is safe to say that if his opinion forms the basis of argument in coming to an agreement the blanket charter will have much of the wind taken out of it.

In his comments upon the demands of the company he asks the question why exemption from taxes? and the frankness of the query rings ominously. He also points out that it is impossible to comply with the wishes of the company for an exclusive franchise in view of the B. C. Electric Company. Furthermore he goes on to state that a perpetual franchise as is asked for ought not to be given, and suggests that a franchise of any description ought not to be given without compensation.

In regard to the running rights on streets and crossings he states that the claims should be limited to the right to cross only, and suggests that provision should be made for free highway passage. In regard to the system to be operated the company wants the right to select steam, cable, electric and cable or gas, but in his comments upon the proposal the city solicitor suggests that they be confined to electric.

This decision is no doubt arrived at after giving full consideration to the effects of any possible smoke nuisance on the Causeway. The claim of the company to operate the Causeway is dismissed with the statement that the city is vitally interested in the Causeway control, and that the city engineer is an arbitrator in this respect.

He objects to the looseness of the company's plans in regard to the possibility of having their system operated on, under or above the surface, and states that the council should have the actual plan of location to approve of only. His last point is in regard to the area proposed to be covered by the tracks of the company, and he finds that it is much too loosely defined. He advocates adherence to the location plan.

From this standpoint it will be readily seen that the company has a long way to go before it can hope to obtain the favor of the city council, as the points indicated above are in the majority of cases directly opposed to the desires of the company. Of course, it does not follow that the advice conveyed above will be strictly adhered to by the council, but it is a comparatively safe bet that action will not be taken which does not take each of the above points into careful consideration.

As a matter of fact, after the council had the first hearing of the proposition the opinion was voiced by the mayor that the company would have to considerably modify its plans before it could expect a franchise. Even then, however, it did not appear that the objections to the scheme would

WOMAN KILLED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

One Man Sustains Injuries
Which May Prove Fatal—
Two Others Also Hurt

Montreal, June 27.—One woman was killed, a man fatally injured and two others sustained injuries as a result of a horse attached to a double buggy taking fright on the bridge near Charlevoix Sunday. The woman killed was Miss Emilienne Oulmet, 72 years of age, of Charlevoix and the man who sustained fatal injuries is Narciso Briere, master carter of Charlevoix. He is in an unconscious condition in the Notre Dame hospital suffering from a fracture of the skull. Owing to his advanced age no hope is entertained for his recovery.

Briere was driving from Charlevoix to Montreal when his horse took fright on the bridge. Briere attempted to pull the animal up, but when he did this one of his reins broke and the horse then became unmanageable and in rushing across the bridge the buggy was dashed against one of the iron striders and the occupants thrown out.

GALA NIGHT AT COVENT GARDEN

King and Queen Attend Performances—Royal Guests Accompany Their Majesties

London, June 27.—One of the magnificent spectacles in connection with the coronation was the performance last night in Covent Garden, the interior of which was transformed into a floral palace wreathed about with England's fairest flowers. Those present will long remember the gorgeous—scintillating picture, the fragrance of 100,000 perfect rose blooms, the noble company of men and women representing the royalty of the world and all the most distinguished in British official and social life, who filled every box and stall.

The King and Queen drove from Buckingham palace in a state coach, escorted by Life Guards. On their arrival their Majesties were received by the chief state officers and escorted to the royal box, the whole audience rising. The royal box consisted of ten boxes in the centre grand tier thrown into one, providing 100 seats, nearly all of which were occupied by guests of royal rank. Flanking the royal box were two other large boxes, each occupied by 100 representatives of foreign countries, in uniforms, and the representatives of the Dominions. About half the stalls were allotted to the suites of the distinguished guests.

In point of picturesque attire, the Indian princes, glittering with jewels, were easily first, eclipsing the royalties in their most splendid uniforms. The King was in an admiral's uniform and wore the Order of the Garter. The Queen's gown was of delicate pink, over which the blue ribbon of the Garter showed in marked relief. On her bosom were the twin stars of Africa, on her head a diamond fleur-de-lis and a maltese cross. The Queen was escorted to the royal box by Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany, and the German crown princess entered on the arm of His Majesty.

Although rain again fell, dense crowds gathered outside Covent Garden to witness the arrival and departure of their Majesties and the royal visitors.

After the performance the royal guests, special envoys and members of the diplomatic corps attended a ball given by the Duke and Duchess of Westminster at Grosvenor House.

Renowned artists took part in the gala performance. The programme opened with a scene from the second act of Verdi's "Aida." This was followed by the second act of Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet." Then came act three of Rossini's "The Barber of Seville," and Tableau II. of the Russian ballet "Le Pavillon d'Armide." Among the artists were Mmes. Melba, Destinné, Tetrazzini, Berat and Kirby Lunn, and John McCormack, Sammarco, Franz, Bassi and Malatesta.

CLASHES WITH ACTING PREMIER

Australia's Governor-General Accuses Minister of Having Failed in His Duty

Melbourne, June 27.—A remarkable series of incidents has marked the final coronation leave taken by the governor-general, the Earl of Dudley, at the government house here. Whether by accident, as the ministers claim, or by design, as the governor-general puts it, not a single member of the cabinet of the Commonwealth put in an appearance at the function.

Lord Dudley, indignant at what he considered to be the slight put upon the representative of His Majesty, summoned the acting premier, Mr. Hughes, to government house and demanded an explanation of the ministers' non-attendance. Mr. Hughes explained that the occurrence was purely accidental, and in no way the outcome of concerted action among the members of the government. The governor-general, taking the explanation to be insufficient, upbraided the acting premier for having failed in his duty. Mr. Hughes retorted that Lord Dudley was the last person to accuse anyone of not doing his duty. An acrimonious discussion followed, and when the minister had departed His Lordship wrote to the cabinet asking an explanation. No reply has as yet been received.

SCOTTISH DIVINE EULOGIZES CANADA

HONOR AT LUNCHEON

Declares That Dominion's Gain in Men and Brains is Great Britain's Loss

Such a gathering of broadcloth as took place in the Alexandra Club yesterday afternoon has seldom been seen at a secular function in the city of Victoria. As was declared by the chairman, all the ministers of the evangelical churches of the city were present with only three exceptions—and even they were present in the form of an apology for absence. It was not all broadcloth, however, for many prominent laymen, including the Hon. Wm. Templeman, Canadian minister of mines, were also present to give the function color and to lend it an aspect of representativeness. The occasion of this notable gathering was a luncheon given under the auspices of the Ministerial Association to Rev. Dr. Stalker, theological professor of Aberdeen University, Scotland, one of the most eminent of Scottish divines.

As might well be expected on such an occasion speeches were made on the day, and although the luncheon was good the talk was much better, not merely because there was more of it, but because of its rich and varied characteristics. Dr. Stalker is the type of man who can hold his own in the best of intellectual company, and the short address which he delivered yesterday with the ease and felicity of an afternoon lecture to the undergraduate class was pregnant with interesting ideas and convincing expression. He paid a deserved tribute to the generosity and hospitality of the Canadian people, after which he launched out into a short review of the situation in Canada and its relation to the Old Country, not from the political point of view so much as from the individual and personal point of view. He told them that the chief topic in Great Britain at the present time among the young men of the nation was Canada, and how to get there.

He cited the four largest cities in Scotland, Glasgow, Edinburgh, Aberdeen and Dundee, and declared that the increase in their population for the last ten years could be discounted in one year by the city of Vancouver. He regarded that as a significant thing. He claimed that this country was getting the very cream of the Old Country's blood at the present time. It was not the failures that were coming this way. It was the brains and sinews of the community, and he appealed, therefore, that they should be fittingly welcomed in the land of their adoption. This transfusion which was making Canada richer was making the Old Land poorer indeed. While the ministers of this country were buoyed up with optimism for the future, their colleagues in the Old Land were not unnaturally depressed at the conditions which were relieving them bodily of the best blood of the land.

Turning his attention for a moment to the great question of church unity, Dr. Stalker said that he had attended the conference in Edinburgh in doubt and fear of the outcome, but he had come away in exhilaration and joy at the hopeful experience he had undergone. Tracking down the efforts of Christianity he entered the field of politics, and with a reference to Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, as illustrating the different motives which actuated political movements of to-day as against the days of the past, he evoked an outburst of applause.

The task of moving a vote of thanks to the guest devolved upon the Hon. William Templeman, who discharged this pleasing duty in a courteous little speech. Acknowledging the fact that it was a long time since he had been in such good company, he proceeded to compliment himself upon his good fortune in this instance. Standing there in the midst of the prophets and the sons of prophets he was reminded of another occasion when he was so surrounded; he was then a member of a "ministerial" association and was engaged upon a little missionary work of another kind. (Laughter.) After intimating that he had been brought up in the old Presbyterian faith, and stuck to it, he proceeded to argue in favor of a new edition of the Westminster confession, and pointed to the example of the Y. M. C. A. as a stimulating influence in this respect. Remarking upon the speech of Dr. Stalker, he endorsed his opinion that what Canada wanted was the men of intellect from the Old Country. Whatever Canada did in the way of welcoming the young men from the schools and universities of the Old Country he felt sure would be amply repaid.

Several others spoke, after which the gathering dispersed with the singing of the National Anthem. Among those present were Rev. W. Stevenson (chairman), Abraham Smith, United States consul; Rev. John Mackay, M. A., D.D., principal of Westminster Hall; Rev. Dr. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; Rev. Joseph McCook, secretary of the Ministerial Association; Rev. T. W. Mills, R. A. Macdonnell, T. E. Holling, W. A. Cornaby, A. E. Roberts, Keyworth, A. Henderson, A. N. Miller, J. A. Wood, F. Letts, Parry, F. T. Tapscott and Hardwick; Captain D. McIntosh, Thornton Fell, clerk of the legislative assembly; Dr. Lewis Hall and Dr. Raymur.

ROOT AMENDMENT VOTED DOWN

PROPOSED TO MODIFY RECIPROCITY BILL

Further Attempt Will Be Made in Senate to Alter the Measure

Washington, D. C., June 21.—The Canadian reciprocity bill emerged from its first ordeal in the Senate last night unscathed. The Root amendment, proposing a modification of the wood pulp and paper section of the agreement, was defeated after seven hours of debate, by an overwhelming vote. The friends of the amendment were so satisfied of its defeat that a roll call was not demanded. This leaves the reciprocity measure open to the general fight that is to follow for amendments of important provisions of the Payne tariff law.

Senator LaFollette announced that he would give the Senate a chance to pass on general tariff amendments for free paper, free lumber and lumber products and for reductions in other schedules. Senator Clapp also announced his intention of offering a free paper amendment later, and other senators gave evidence of their purpose to force consideration of tariff revision on the widest plane.

Attack on the Root amendment was interspersed with attacks on the whole reciprocity measure. In the debate which resulted in the defeat of Senator Root's proposal to change the House bill by requiring that all Canadian provinces should remove their export restrictions on pulp wood and its products before the reciprocity features of the wood pulp and paper section of the agreement went into effect.

"I am opposed to this so-called reciprocity agreement as a whole, because I believe it is wrong, harmful and unjustifiable," said Senator LaFollette. "If it must pass, I want to see it made as nearly perfect as possible. I shall vote against the Root amendment because I believe it will defeat the very purpose of the wood pulp and paper paragraph of the agreement."

Senator LaFollette declared there was no justification for any duty on print paper. He analyzed the figures of the tariff board to show that the best mills in the United States could actually produce paper cheaper than the best mills in Canada. To continue a high tariff on paper he said, was to put a premium on "inefficiency and sloth" and to make the protective tariff "deadweight constructive force" for the development of efficient management.

He criticized the newspapers for having urged the reciprocity measure as a means of getting relief from the oppressive charges of the print paper manufacturers. He said they had joined with the "packers, the railroads, the flour millers" and others who would secure advantages through the passage of the reciprocity bill. He declared that in the testimony taken by the finance committee it would be shown that the newspapers have suppressed the news of the reciprocity proceedings; but on this point Senator Stone, who also is a member of the finance committee, said the Wisconsin Senator was mistaken.

"That is the blackest page in the newspaper history of the United States," said Senator LaFollette. "I regret that fact must become part of the history of this legislation. But it is a stubborn fact. There is no one who followed the hearings before the finance committee but knows that those who favored the Canadian agreement were given great space; but when the agricultural interests came before the committee the news filled but meagre space in the great newspapers of the country."

"I want to interrupt the senator," said Senator Stone, "not to defend the newspapers, but because I think his statement is not quite justified by the facts. It was charged that the Associated Press, for example, had given great space to the pro-reciprocity literature and to the pro-reciprocity contentions, which the newspapers had greedily accepted and widely exploited."

"The facts as developed show, as I understand them, that far more space was given the anti-reciprocity arguments by the Associated Press and by the newspapers of the country than was given by either the one or the other in favor of reciprocity."

Senator LaFollette expressed the belief that other members of the finance

THINKING THEMES

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

Whatever you do, do not hesitate. Hesitation is tragic. Hamlet, the greatest of all tragedies, is the picture of the hesitating soul. In the palace of Fontenbleu is a pathetic sight, which strikes the beholder like a blow; it is a table, full of little holes, where Napoleon jabbed his knife as he sat before it, hesitating to abdicate.

The Irish rule in a fight is to hit first. It is instinct with philosophy. The bridge-player who tampers with his card before playing it has betrayed his hand. Whatever is done at once, even if it be wrong, has some merit. It is largely a matter of habit. Dawdling with a decision grows on one. By and by one gets into a state where any responsibility for immediate action brings on chills and fever. Life becomes entirely inefficient. One's spirit is always shrinking and hiding. The will is utterly limp.

One curative reflection for the indecisive is, that no one ever knows precisely what is best. Prompt and positive people know no more than you, see no more clearly. They are possibly wrong in what they do as often as you. But they save themselves a world of self-torture by doing something, at once. Think twice before you speak is an excellent maxim if taken literally, that is: do not think more than twice. Balance the probabilities the best you can, make your decision as honestly as you can. No one but God knows, anyhow, what will be the full consequences.

committee would side with him in the controversy.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota opposed the reciprocity bill as a "deception, a elusion and a snare," and said the Root amendment would but make it worse. Senator Simmons, Democrat, declared the bill was not a Democratic measure. Senator Townsend of Michigan, said the paper and pulp clause of the reciprocity bill would undoubtedly be open to different interpretations if the Root amendment were not adopted, and that the courts would finally have to pass on the matter.

During the day there was a general tightening up of the lines in favor of the reciprocity bill. The friends of the measure on the Democratic side continued the canvass of the situation, and when the senate adjourned, said no future amendment would receive more than five Democratic votes. There also was current a report that there might be an effort to recommend the free list and wood bills to the finance committee, but the talk was desultory. A few senators advocated the course as best calculated to advance the tariff measure as riders on the reciprocity bill, but most of them expressed gratification over the reporting of the bill's defeat and declared that under no circumstances would they agree to send them back.

PRAISE FOR BOY SCOUTS OF CANADA

Reviewed by General Lyttleton —Will Parade Before the King at Windsor

London, June 27.—Despite the rain the Canadian Boy Scouts were reviewed on Sunday afternoon in the beautiful grounds of Capt. Arthur Grenfell, at Roehampton, Surrey. In the absence of Lord Strathcona, who was prevented by illness from attending, the boys were reviewed by Gen. Sir Neville Lyttleton in the presence of a general English and Canadian company.

The boys numbered 1,045, representing all sections of Canada except Alberta, whose boys have not yet arrived. Their ages range from 12 to 17.

General Lyttleton expressed repeatedly his satisfaction at their keenness and business-like appearance.

After the review General Lyttleton and Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan gave short addresses. General Lyttleton telling the boys of his visit to Canada 50 years ago and contrasting conditions then and now.

He and the visitors generally were especially edited by the thrilling war cry of the boys with the refrain, "Canada, here we are," a war cry which, by the way, made the echoes ring on Constitution Hill as the King and Queen passed the Canadian stand on Thursday last.

Yesterday Colonels Minden, Cole and Hammond, second in command, took the boys to Portsmouth as guests of the mayor of Portsmouth. They were conducted around the fleet in a British warship. They will also be entertained by the Indian Princess Langrana at Carleton Place, Surrey, and are to be the guests of the Duke and Duchess of Richmond.

They will sail for Canada on July 12. In their own words, they are having the time of their lives.

On Sunday morning they attended service at St. Paul's cathedral, but the climax of the visit will be reached on grand rally day, July 29, when they are to be given the place of honor on the right of the division at the King's review of 30,000 Boy Scouts from all parts of the Empire in Windsor great park.

PREMIER FISHER IS OUTSPOKEN

Says Companies Which Own
Large Tracts of Land
Retard Progress

London, June 27.—Andrew Fisher, who left Scotland, where he worked as a left boss, to seek employment in the mines of Australia, and who is now back as prime minister of that Commonwealth, has been shocking the English by his outspokenness and his support of ideas which are considered here almost as anarchistic. Mr. Fisher is a respecter of persons. His speech in which he attacked James Kier Hardie, when that gentleman's opposition to arguments showed that the ideas of the Australian and English labor leaders differ radically, is evidence of this.

Now he has been speaking to London financiers who have interests in Australia in even plainer terms. A deputation from companies owning large tracts of land in Australia waited on him to protest against the new Australian land tax, which aims at the breaking up of large estates.

The spokesman of the deputation said the tax would keep capital out of Australia.

Mr. Fisher replied: "You don't know what you are talking about," and then he proceeded to show how, in his opinion, that large land owners retarded the progress of a country by tying up the land and holding it for speculation.

Mr. Fisher has thus far declined all titles and degrees offered him. He did not appear at Oxford, which was to confer a degree on him, in common with other premiers, and he declined a degree offered by Cambridge.

CONTEMPT CASE

Labour Leaders Must Show Cause Why They Should Not Be Judged, Guilty.

Washington, D. C., June 27.—Justice Daniel T. Wright of the district Supreme court, has issued a ruling against Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, the labor leaders, requiring them to show cause on July 17, why they should not be judged guilty of contempt of court. This action followed the filing of the report of the special committee of attorneys appointed by Justice Wright to inquire into the matter of contempt proceedings in the Buck Stove and Range Company's boycott case.

FIRE DESTROYS DIRIGIBLE BALLOON

The Parsenal, Damaged in Storm, is Burned While Undergoing Repairs

Hanover, Meunenburg, Prussia, June 27.—The dirigible balloon Parseval V, while undergoing repairs yesterday caught fire and was destroyed. No one was injured.

The Parseval V. recently had been making passenger trips out of Berlin. On April 2 last, the airship made a perilous descent at Halberstadt during a storm. The occupants were compelled to rip the envelope and made a very rough landing.

Nantucket, Mass., June 27.—Two young women, Helen Wilson, of New York city, and Mildred De Haven, of Brooklyn, lost their lives in a fire which destroyed a boat house owned by Wm. Barnes, Jr., chairman of the New York Republican state committee, Saturday night. Several other persons were injured.

The fire was started by a match thoughtlessly thrown on a recently oiled floor. Almost immediately the room was filled with flames and those who escaped did so only by jumping overboard.

The bodies of the dead were recovered, but both were beyond recognition. The young people were the guests of Thurlow Barnes and were having a house party.

Miss Wilson was 21 years of age and Miss De Haven 18.

Ulysses Pahud, a valet in the employ of William Barnes, Jr., also was seriously injured and is not expected to live.

The only members of the party to escape without injury were Harry and Ruth Wilson, brother and sister of the burned girl, and Miss Phoebe Judkins.

AUTOISTS FINED

Vancouver, June 26.—After a rest of a month or two the autoists of the city again have regular appointments at the police court almost every day. The attendance this morning was about sixteen, and the police were ready with stopwatches and official records taken at the time of the alleged offences.

When Magistrate Shaw pointed out to the motorists that according to the law unless they proved themselves innocent they were guilty, most of them paid up $20 and left. A few asked for adjournments, which were granted.

Charges against Susanne and Yvonne Bouvier were remanded until Wednesday. They were charged with keeping a disorderly house on Hornby street. Gordon Grant, who appeared for them, asked his worship to make the bail fairly light, but $2,500 was the lightest he would accept.

"We may just as well understand each other," said the magistrate. "I believe that there are all sorts of women penetrating into the best residential districts of the city and I propose to do as much as is in my power to stamp it out. I am not prejudicing the case, but I am going to make the bail substantial."

Cod Liver Oil With the Oil Taken Out

A Triumph for Chemical Science and Pharmaceutical Skill

Oil from the liver of the cod-fish has been used as a preventative of disease and a restorative for ages.

For a long time it has been the general opinion that the medicinal value of Cod Liver Oil was the greasy, oily part itself—its only drawback being the unpleasant, fishy taste of the oil.

From the first experts have been trying to find means to make it more palatable. They used to "cut" it with whiskey—take it in wine—flavor it with lemon juice—anything to get away from that abominable fishy taste and smell.

Lots of people still take it in Emulsion form, which is nothing more than "churned" oil—broken up—but still greasy, oily and a strain on the digestion.

Doctors used to think it was the oil itself that built up the system—they were slow to find out that the oil was a distinct drawback to the medicinal principles contained in it.

Crude oil is quite indigestible, and will, in time, put the strongest stomach out of order.

A way has now been discovered to do away with the grease and the smell, and yet retain all the medicinal properties of the liver. This is done by removing the fresh oil from the new livers. The liver pulp is then reduced to the form of an extract like beef extract.

Nyal's Cod Liver Compound is simply this liver extract combined with an extract of malt and healing wild cherry. It also contains the true hypophosphites.

This combination makes Nyal's Cod Liver Compound a delicious tonic—builds up the system, and makes you strong.

Take it when you feel yourself losing your grip. It's a pleasure to take—even the children like it.

Get a bottle to-day and ward off disease. $1.00 for a large bottle. Your druggist will cheerfully recommend it because he knows all about it.

Sold and guaranteed by D. E. Campbell, John Cochrane, Dean & Hiscock, F. W. Fairweather, Messrs. Hall & Co., W. Jackson & Co., F. J. Williams, Victoria.

BORDEN'S TERGIVERSATIONS.

Dealing with the platform upon which Mr. Borden elects to go before the people of Canada, the Times has already remarked with reference to the government ownership and operation of the Hudson's Bay railway that the plans for the conduct of this road are as yet nebulous, the initial contracts for its construction having just been arranged. We have no hesitation in saying that by the time the question of operation is before the people the government will submit a policy which will conform in every way with sound business methods. Beyond that the people of Canada do not want even Mr. Borden to go, and they will not be enticed by an indefinite proposal such as is vaguely suggested by the opposition leader.

The question of government control of terminal elevators will be dealt with by the government in the same business manner. There is now a bill before the Dominion parliament in response to the petition of the grain growers of the Middle West. By his own declaration Mr. Borden will be compelled to support those features in the bill which look toward what he has committed himself to in his addresses. It would be folly to depose a government which has already in process a measure dealing with the matter and to commit the question to a government which might be unable to go farther, if indeed as far. We are of the opinion that this will be the view taken by that part of the Dominion most directly interested in the question. As for those of us who are outside the immediate sphere of the business impact of the situation, it is a safe thing for us to leave it to the parties most concerned.

Mr. Borden states that "we stand also for such aid and encouragement as will place the chilled meat industry of this country upon a sound and healthy basis." What sort of encouragement? What specific form of aid? There are several ways in which this might be done. There might be a bonus given to the chilled meat industry; there might be a new and ingenious system of tariffs arranged to promote the Canadian business in chilled meats at the expense of the consumer. There might be another system of protection devised and adopted, exclusively related to this industry. Which of these systems does Mr. Borden intend to adopt? Perhaps Mr. Borden would suggest a wave of patriotism so powerful and overwhelming that only Canadian chilled meat would be purchased by Canadian consumers. Should these fall of supply the people might be taught to go hungry. We are aware this is absurd, but Mr. Borden leaves us in utter ignorance of his proposed methods, and we have no genius ourselves. Undoubtedly, if it could be accomplished, the last suggestion is the most practical under the ultra-loyal cry to which Mr. Borden is attuning himself.

Passing from these vague and shadowy pretensions Mr. Borden leaps at once to the tariff question, and in lieu of reciprocity pledges his party to the appointment of a "permanent tariff commission of able, independent and representative men for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon all matters connected with the tariff." He adds that the "tariff should be based upon business principles which would appeal to common sense, reason and fairness."

It is impossible to decide from this pledge whether Mr. Borden expects that the appointment of such a commission would result in a revision of the present tariffs. It is impossible to tell whether such revision, if there should be any, would be up or down. Taken in its context, and interpreting the pledge from Mr. Borden's whole treatment of the tariff question, there can be but one conclusion, and that would lead us to expect a stiffening of the protective features of the present imports. That is the last thing that Canada wants under any circumstances.

The whole trend of economics in this generation is in the direction of the abandonment of tariffs for protection. Even the United States business men are breaking away from support of the Payne-Aldrich tariff and the whole cosmogony of high tariffs is threatened. We submit that Mr. Borden's position, clearly and frankly stated in his speeches is, that—no matter what the United States does in the matter of tariff revision and the lowering of the present burdensome tax upon the consumers—Canada should maintain her present high tariffs on manufactured articles and on natural products as well.

This is not what Canada wants at the present time. The very people to whom Mr. Borden addresses these de-liverances have been the most clamant for reciprocity in natural products as well as other things. The government had negotiated an agreement for reciprocity in natural products, reserving the right to deal with other matters as the demands of the country and the welfare of the people suggest.

The first class to put this demand into practical expression was the grain growers and farmers of the Middle West. They did this after a most thorough and exhaustive analysis of the whole business situation affecting the entire country as well as themselves. The government made no blind bargain with the United States in accepting the reciprocity agreement. They were offered free trade in all interchangeable commodities, but we are told by the president of the United States that the Canadian millers did not feel warranted in going so far.

So far as tariffs on natural commodities are involved, no tariff commission can tell the government any more than it knows now. It knows already what the whole country knows and what every intelligent voter has been aware of for years. It knows that with reciprocal trade relations with the United States in natural products the trade of both countries will be readjusted along natural lines unimpeded by the artificial barriers raised by the present import on foodstuffs. It knows that one section of the country will benefit in some particulars and another section in others, and the final result will be a benefit to the whole.

Besides, no tariff commission could be "independent" in the sense that Mr. Borden intimates. With the studied and inexorable avowal of Mr. Borden that tariff reduction is a mistake, all that a commission could do would be to make findings in support of this position. Should it make other findings Mr. Borden would have to change his position and reduce the tariff—the very thing which he says he will not do and on which position he is appealing to the country for election. No tariff commission can ever convince the farmers of the Middle West that they have made a mistake in their imperious demand for reciprocity. Why, then, prolong their agony and keep them waiting till a commission can find out that they are right? No tariff commission can convince the consumers of foodstuffs in Canada that they are not paying a much higher price than is righteous for the necessities of life. Why then keep on bleeding them for several years longer until a tariff commission can report to a prejudiced government, pledged to sustain high tariffs, and take the long chance on relief?

Besides being a complete negation of his Halifax platform of four years ago, Mr. Borden's present ultimatum runs contra to the "common sense" of the public, and that is the very thing to which his proposed tariff commission must appeal.

A WHOLESOME DIFFERENCE.

The morning paper is very much perturbed at the announcement of the Times that we propose to explode a few of the fallacies of the McBride government and foredooms us to "a graceless task." Then it implores the Minister of Inland Revenue to intervene and refuse to sanction such a graceless task. It concludes its somewhat beseeching yet rather bragging editorial with the comforting reflection respecting this paper that "fortunately its influence is not sufficient to make its effort at decrying the advantages which the province offers to settlers of any serious moment."

As the whole alarm of the Colonist is built up on an hypothesis which is completely gratuitous we are quite impervious to our contemporary's thrust. The Times has no intention of "decrying the advantages which the province offers to settlers." Its intention is to discredit the methods by which the McBride administration makes it impossible for settlers to take advantage of these local conditions. Our readers will see a difference in these positions even if our astute morning contemporary cannot.

It is interesting to notice that while the more reckless of the Conservative newspapers are condemning Sir Wilfrid Laurier because he is not sufficiently imperialistic for them, that the warmest campaign that is being waged against him is led by Mr. Bourassa and Mr. Monk, who are trying to arouse the Quebec public to opposition to Sir Wilfrid because Laurier is too imperialistic for them—Calgary Alberta.

Not the least interesting feature of the coronation ceremonies was the comment of the American press thereon. The following, the concluding paragraph of an editorial in the Boston Post, is fairly representative of the judgment of United States newspapers: "Englishmen all over the world are shouting 'God save the King.' In that sentiment we may all unite, for the man who dons the crown to-day is a gentleman, whose personal qualities command respect."

Yesterday we had a proper scare. The Toronto World opened its editorial columns with a leader on "Annexation and the Transportation Problem." We wondered what new nightmare had got the old Tory organ, but it turned out to be nothing more serious than an article on the annexation of North Toronto by the city and the street railway franchises. So the country is still safe.

In the days early after Sir Wilfrid Laurier's arrival in England to attend the Imperial Conference the Toronto World published a series of telegrams from London which tended to show that the discredit in which Sir Wilfrid had been transferred to London. Of late the same paper is publishing dispatches from London which say the British government has conspired to send Sir Wilfrid back to Canada with material and prestige with which to repair his broken fences. Strange, subtle, hypnotic power has the man Laurier.

Forced to admit that Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir John Thompson favored in 1891 just such a trade agreement as Canada has now entered into with the United States the Winnipeg Conservative newspaper says:

"If Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir John Thompson had lived up to the present day, and had progressed as they would have done in thought and action with the progress of Canada, they would have been the head and forefront of the opposition to reciprocity as at present advanced."

The only way out for the Tories is to represent Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir John Thompson as a pair of dunderheads, not half as wise as the Conservative leaders for to-day. The public will, however, have its own opinion about this—Manitoba Free Press.

RUN OF SOCKEYE ON COAST WILL BE LATE

Very Few Have Been Caught—Fishers Predict Backward Season This Year

Runs of sockeye on the coast of British Columbia will be late this year if the prophecies of fishermen and canners are realized. To date very few sockeye have been caught in the northern waters, although fishing operations started there on June 20. Advice received here to-day from the Skeena river states that the pack of sockeye there has been very light, one large cannery having only put up 17 cases by last Friday.

As a reason for predicting a late fishing season canners point out that vegetation is very backward this year, and it has been the experience that when this is the case the fish appear late. It is reported that in the north the vegetation is from three weeks to a month behind in growth. Advice from Rivers Inlet do not mention the appearance of sockeye at that point, and it is concluded that few, if any, have been taken there as far this season.

Since the canneries in the north opened the men employed have been kept busy in preparing the spring salmon for shipment. There has been a good run of the spring salmon in the rivers. So far no sockeye have yet appeared in the Fraser river, and very few have been caught in the traps on the Sound.

ARRANGING SCHEDULE FOR ISLANDS' RUN

City of Nanaimo to Leave Every Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday

Much time has been spent by the officials of the B. C. Coast service in mapping out a schedule for the islands' run which is to be followed out by the steamer City of Nanaimo. The new timetable which goes into effect to-morrow, shows that the City of Nanaimo will leave here on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 7 a. m. The schedule is as follows:

On Mondays she will call at Moreby Island, Fulford, Beaver Point, Port Washington, Mayne Island, Ganges, Retreat Cove, Fernwood, North Galliano and Ladysmith.

On Tuesdays she will leave Ladysmith at 9.30 a. m. and call at Chemainus, Crofton, Vesuvius Bay, Maple Bay, Burgoyne Bay, Musgrave, Cow-

Island, Moreby Island, arriving at Victoria in the evening.

On Wednesdays she will call at Fulford, Beaver Point, Cushman Cove, Ganges Harbor, Mayne, Hope Bay, Saturna, South Pender.

On Thursdays she will call at Fulford, Port Washington, Gages, Mayne, Vancouver.

The Most Economical Range on the Market, the 'Arcadian'

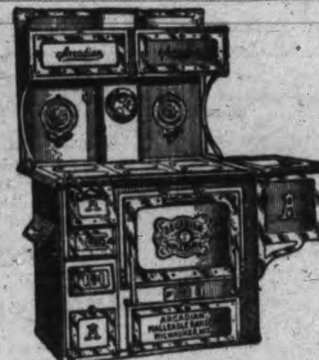

The Arcadian Range is not by any means the lowest priced range, but it is without doubt—the cheapest in the long run, simply because it requires no repairs, burns less fuel than any other range, and gives perfect satisfaction to the housewife because she can always depend upon getting good results from its use.

The secret of the efficiency of this range lies in the fact that it is made throughout of the best charcoal iron plates and the highest quality malleable iron and pure asbestos millboard, by skilful workmen, who are specialists on this class of work—and know how.

There are no bolts or screws to work loose—none are used in the construction of this range—every part being rivetted together with the same skill and care that is exercised in the building of locomotive boilers. Consequently it is durable, air-tight and reliable.

THE FIRE BOX is designed for economical operation, and its size determined by exhaustive tests in order to produce the best possible baking results, is extra heavy and made of best tough grey iron, and is so constructed that wood or coal can be used with equally good results.

THE OVEN is absolutely air-tight, gas-tight, dust-tight and does not permit the heat to escape. It is rivetted securely to malleable iron frames, which are solidly rivetted to the body of the range, both front and back, in such a manner that it is impossible for the seams to open up.

THE OVEN BOTTOM will always remain true and level, being three times as substantial as the one placed in an ordinary range, and is braced by a malleable iron bar that prevents it from warping.

THE OVEN BACK is non-breakable, easily slides out of the oven and will bear any reasonable weight without tipping over. This makes it very handy for basting a roast, as it merely necessitates drawing the rack forward instead of lifting the roast off the rack and on to the floor.

THE ASH PIT DOOR is independent of the pan, and is made to lock firmly so that drafts at this point may not interfere with the control of the fire.

THE ASH PAN is made of very heavy steel, is large and roomy and is open at the end so that when placing the pan back in position it scoops up all the ashes that have fallen into the pit. It is fitted with strong handles, and saves much labor and dirt when cleaning out the pit.

There are many other points about the Arcadian that are worthy of notice, but space will not allow us to go into details. Let us show you the range before your purchase elsewhere. It's no trouble to show you how it is made and how it works.

Washburn Stringed Instruments

A superficial examination of a Washburn instrument is sufficient to convince one of its intrinsic value and the superiority of the materials employed, but it should be borne in mind that the primary aim in the manufacture of every instrument bearing the Washburn brand is "tone quality," the point upon which its reputation for pre-eminence has in reality been won.

We have a splendid assortment of these superior instruments, and you can get—

Mandolins from $15 to $75
Guitars from $15 to $150
Banjos from $15 to $50
Violins from $15 to $150
Zithers, $30 and $40

Constant progress has kept the Washburn beyond the reach of competition, and has evolved new distinct and unsurpassed styles, which are now presented to the public for the first time.

The purchaser of a Washburn instrument gains possession of the product of the largest organization of its kind in the world.

SOCIAL SIDE OF FIRST "CHURCH'S JUBILEE"

Enjoyable Event Last Evening—The Clergymen of Other Churches Bring Greetings

A very pleasant and enjoyable meeting was held last evening at First Presbyterian church, being the last of a series of meetings in connection with the jubilee of the introduction of Presbyterianism into British Columbia. His Honor the Lieut.-Governor presided in his usual modest and dignified manner. The choir, under the leadership of J. G. Brown, rendered excellent music, as they do always, on other occasions.

The first speaker was Alex. Wilson, who was present at the organization of the congregation fifty years ago. He gave a concise history of the early days of the work of the Presbyterian church in Victoria. He hurriedly passed on from incident to incident, from the arrival of the Rev. John Hall in June, 1861, to the induction of the present pastor, Dr. Campbell, in June, 1892. The address was much enjoyed by all present.

The chairman then introduced Rev. Professor Stalker, D. D., of Aberdeen, Scotland, who in a quiet, dignified, and humorous address, delighted the audience. He was, he said, much pleased with the manner in which Christianity is being upheld in Canada. He touched lightly on the union now contemplated by the Congregationalists, Methodists and Presbyterians, and also referred to the union which took place a few years ago in Scotland, and which is not as happy as was expected.

Rev. A. E. Roberts, president of the Methodist conference of British Columbia, extended to First church the greetings of their church in the province, and wished the Presbyterians even greater success in the future. Principal Mackay, of Westminster Hall, was the delegate from the Presbyterian synod of British Columbia. He is always practical, a man of good common sense, and says the right thing in the right place. He conveyed to First church in a happy manner the greetings of the synod.

Honorable Dr. Young, acting premier, who himself is the son of a Presbyterian minister, a leader in the church in Canada, spoke of the noble work the Christian Church is doing, of the stamp the Presbyterian Church has put on society, and of her aggressiveness. He referred very eulogistically to the pastor of First church and his work in the city.

Very Rev. Dean Doull, of Christ Church cathedral, won the hearts of the audience by the grandness of his vision, and the catholicity of his spirit. He paid a high compliment to the Presbyterian Church in reference to ministry, affirming that the ministers of the Presbyterian Church were the most highly educated of those of any church in the world. Men of the Presbyterian Church were leaders in science, in literature and in theology.

Rev. Dr. Reid, one of the early pastors of First church, spoke kind, gentle, and loving words as a father to his children. The venerable pastor is always well received whenever he speaks in Victoria.

Rev. William Stevenson, president of the Ministerial Association, extended to the pastor and congregation the congratulations of the association, which represents all the churches in the city except the Anglican and Roman Catholic. Like Dean Doull he emphasized the high educational standard of the training of the ministers of the Presbyterian Church, and paid a graceful compliment to the esteem in which the association holds the pastor of First church.

Rev. Joseph McCoy was the last speaker, and spoke as the representative of the city Presbyterian congregations. The audience sang "God Save the King," and an adjournment was made to the large lecture hall, where they were handsomely entertained by the ladies. The hostesses of First church never do things by halves, and on this occasion left nothing undone to make complete this, the last item of the jubilee celebration.

ALLEN & CO.

Fit-Reform

904 Government Street.

To the Editor: In explanation of the various by-laws to be submitted to the people on Thursday of this week, I notice by yesterday's Colonist, that the city council intends "devoting the money obtained through the sale of the old pound and pipe-yard towards the acquisition of the site of the Lion saloon. . . . It is the council's intention to locate thereon civic stables, a pipe-yard, cattle pound, storage sheds, and such other structures as are necessary for the proper care and protection of civic supplies and plant."

This site, by the way, is to cost the people of the city $40,000, of which sum $4,000 will be handed to the proprietor of the Lion saloon for his license. That is something for the electors to think over; $40,000 for their money to be spent for what? To rid this residential section of the city of—to remove from the doors of the George Jay school—a saloon. That is a worthy object, but what does the council purpose substituting? "Civic stables, a pipe-yard, cattle pound, storage sheds, and such other structures," etc. Will the people of the district be satisfied with the exchange? A saloon is not by any means a desirable neighbor for a school—the proprietor will perhaps be the first to admit that—but I wish to inform the public (and I believe I am voicing the sentiments of every member of the staff of the George Jay school) that the dog pound, and latterly the pipe-yard, have been an infinitely greater nuisance to us during the past year than this saloon. I hold no brief for any saloon, nor its proprietor, and could I wipe them all out of existence (the saloons) with a scratch of my pen, I should gladly do so; but in my opinion the evil effects of this saloon on the pupils (and perhaps teachers) of the George Jay school have been largely imaginary. On only one occasion did we notice an intoxicated man in the vicinity, and we have no evidence that he was a customer of this particular saloon. He was taken to the police station, and the effect on the pupils, I believe, was to give them a contempt for strong drink and the man who uses or sells it.

We have suffered—that's the word—the dog pound at our front door since the school was opened, and one has to live near a dog pound to realize what it means. One man living in the vicinity told me that the only comfort was that the dogs did not howl at night. I quite believe him, for the energy of even a dog is limited, and after listening to them for the whole day I wondered how any sane man could expect them to howl at night. Perhaps none but a teacher can realize what it means to attempt to teach a class of pupils under these conditions. It has often meant that the teacher has to "bark" louder than the combined "barks" of from five to twenty—perhaps more—half-starved dogs. True, this was not perpetual, but any lull was fully compensated by the greetings which every fresh load of unfortunates received on their initiation to the mysteries of the pound. Then along come a tooting automobile, and the anxious occupant scans the faces of the imprisoned, which with one accord in pleading tones ask to be liberated. The missing one is located, and as he is borne off in triumph he receives a farewell greeting from all his impromptu friends.

We were rejoicing in the fact that this nuisance was being removed from our midst, when we discovered to our dismay that a corporation pipe-yard was being established in its place. Now we are treated to a constant hammering on pipes from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. We shall have to petition the education department to change our hours so as to allow us to teach at night, when even the saloon would be closed.

If some of the aldermen were trying to conduct classes under these conditions they would certainly change their minds about making a gift of $4,000 to rid us of one nuisance and at the same time establishing worse ones in its place. A friend of this scheme said to me: "You will get used to it." I ask in all fairness, why should we have to get used to such nuisances?

Speaking of a cattle pound, I have seen horned cattle being chased through the school grounds by the pound employees, and running mad among hundreds of little children in the midst of their play. Now the council proposes to place for all time to come, all these nuisances at the door of the George Jay school and in a residential district. In the course of a few years we shall have prohibition in British Columbia, which would rid us of the saloon, but it will take nothing short of a cyclone to rid us of a cattle pound.

CONDUCT OF EXAMINATIONS.

To the Editor:—Now the exams are so near, would you allow a student to set up a plea for the nervous pupils who suffer so in nerves and marks by fidgety examiners?

There's the examiner who keeps constantly telling one to hurry or asking when not near the end if you are not nearly finished.

There's the examiner who keeps up a constant walk up and down the aisle, or holds conversations in a low tone with pupils.

Or the one who takes his station beside or behind a pupil, which sets some pupils' nerves on end. Why not have a position overlooking the whole school, even if he puts his chair on the desk, and then keep quiet, both in tongue and action? Otherwise the nervous ones don't get fair play.

In Ontario the paper is thoroughly explained, if there are doubtful interpretations of it, before the exam begins, and then all the examiner does is to watch out against copying or talking, and keep thoroughly quiet.

I'm sure the presiding examiners will see the fairness of this, and so orders should be given to all to change from last year and rules set down. Some don't require them, some do.

PASSING SHOW

Empress-Grand Theatre.

There was a tremendous reception given Spencer Kelly and Marion Wilder at the Empress theatre yesterday, when these pleasing singers appeared for the first time in Victoria. While there are five sterling acts on this week's bill, the lovers of good music, perhaps the best number, and the best for several weeks, is the Kelly-Wilder combination. Both capture the audience with a medley of popular and old-time songs.

Their numbers hark back to the days of the civil war, then gradually bring one up to the present day. Their voices are soprano and baritone, clear, resonant and full, Miss Wilder's carrying a tunefulness that was both delightful and surprising, for as she goes into the upper register her tones are bell-like. Yesterday there were two solos and two duets, and the couple had to be to be excused when the insistent demands for an encore became such that re-appearance after re-appearance before the footlights did not stop the clamor.

Bill posting on a new plan, the athletic one, is a novelty done well by the Francoli troupe, a man and three children. There is a bill board on the stage and as the old bill poster is about to paste up his signs the board becomes alive in a gymnastic display of living posters and advertisements.

Murry Livingston has brought west a company in "The Man From Italy," an immigrant story of pathos but human in its conclusion, and with enough of the dramatic to give Mr. Livingston opportunity to display his talents. The others in the company are Virginia Bates and Burnie Lewis.

There is some very fast stepping in the dance act of the three Brownies, who are good as eccentric and straight dancers. Half way through the act the trio enter on roller skates and do the act over again, concluding with a terrific buck-and-wing finish. The act is a skating and dancing sensation.

Emerald and Dupree are back again with the same old laughable "Hot Scotch" act, a small pair of klutzes and a couple of good voices, and the audience gave them a loud greeting. Monsieur Chitty, the grandiose man, has an extra film on the reel this week, because he has just had a birthday.

"The Old Homestead."

Daisies instead of roses, water instead of wine; that is what "The Old Homestead" means, although in its simple career through four acts it occasionally hits up a spurt of intoxicating mirth and enthusiasm that would almost seem to belie its underlying meaning. Since Cain went out into the wilderness and set the fashion there has been a prodigality of prodigals, which of itself would not have been so terrible, but for the fact of the playwright who cottoned on to him like a leech, preaching him and repeating him until the world is at present suffering from a plethora of prodigals.

Apart from the fun and humor of Denny Thompson's comedy, there is only one thing which renders it bearable, and that is the complete obscuration of the prodigal. Love and the prodigal is an old theme. The outcome is foregone, certain, inevitable, but that is no reason why the prodigal should dominate the stage (as he invariably does) to the exclusion of the other element, love. It is this other element which Thompson clings to. He characterizes love in the person of the old man, Joshua Whitcomb, whose whimsicalities and ludicrous conceptions of modern life are the centre pieces of the play. Through him he proves that a dog is still a dog whether it can stand on its head or not, and a man not less a man nor more a fool because he does not scorch through life at excessive speed.

Old Joshua is no philosopher, although he has a sneaking idea that he knows the whole text-book of life by heart, but one thing he has which makes a living searchlight of his mind, and that is a large supply of the milk of human kindness of a quality well above the regulation standard. He can feel where he cannot see, and this sense is to him one of enlightenment and upliftment. In weighing him out one feels that he would count in the enumeration of the souls that matter, against the countless hordes of immaterial death-masks.

In the presentation of this lovable character William Lawrence found himself at home. He fitted the part like a glove. His eccentric mannerisms and total ignorance of canting goodness endeared him to everyone, and made him a lord in his own small household. During the performance of the play many excellent doubles were enacted, notably that executed by Ward E. Rensseler. From the stupid old croak of the village to the wealthy banker of the city is a far cry, yet Rensseler carried it with ease and grace. Frederick Lyon, in the role of Happy Jack, the reformed tramp, made a pleasing effect, and Mrs. Emma Chase made a stately old Aunt Matilda. The company was well balanced throughout and ably supported the main pillar of the production.

WORK OF RAISING

WRECK OF MAINE

Chief Engineer Says Secret of Destruction Will Never Be Known

Tampa, Florida, June 27.—"The secret of the destruction of the battleship Maine will never be known," said Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of the engineers in charge of the work of raising the Maine, on his arrival here from Havana. The destruction of the vessel was such, says Gen. Bixby, and the deterioration has been so great that it will be impossible to tell whether the ship was blown up from a force within or without. The greatest force, however, was from the inside, indicating that the forward magazine exploded. Whether this was from a sympathetic explosion caused by a torpedo from the outside may forever remain a mystery. Gen. Bixby says that unless the fragment of a torpedo is found, there is no way of connecting some outside agency with the blowing up of the vessel.

DEATH FROM HEAT.

Kansas City, June 27.—A scorching wind from the south blew all day Sunday over eastern and central Kansas and western Missouri, greatly damaging crops and sending temperatures to new high records. In Kansas City the temperature reached 100 degrees. At Salina and McPherson, Kansas, the temperature reached 114 degrees, breaking the records for the last 26 years. Temperatures in other Kansas towns were: Manhattan, 112; Abilene, 113; Concordia, 102; Emporia, 106; Kinsley, 100; and Birding City, 111. The heat killed one person and prostrated others here. Mrs. Sam. Bailey, 84 years of age, of Kansas City, Kan., died of the effects of the heat.

Mother Travels With Thirteen Children, All Under Five Years.

Oklahoma is about to acquire a remarkable family. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott of Highland, Kansas, are seeking a site for a home somewhere in that state. The Scotts are the parents of nineteen children. Thirteen of them are living and are all boys and under 5 years old. The parents hold the record for triplets, having had five sets to their credit and two sets of twins. Recently the Scotts, deciding that they must find more land, went to Alberta, Canada. Mrs. Scott dug down in her valise and brought out the family Bible, in which were recorded the names and ages of each of the children. The conductor had to give in.

The mother and children occupied five double seats in the car and paid for only one. The ages of the Scott children: Triplets, 4½ years; twins, 3½ years; triplets, 2½ years; triplets, 18 months; and twins, 6 months. Mrs. Scott is 30 years old and her husband is 31.

Many Applications Too Late for 35c. Shares

Owing to lateness of mail, a number of out-of-town applications did not reach the office of the Trustee, T. R. Morrow, until to-day, Tuesday, June 27th.

These applications were for 35 cent shares in the British Pacific Coal Co., and we were unable to fill same for two reasons:

First—The issue was oversubscribed.

Second—The fifty cent issue was placed on the market.

The buying was quite brisk at 50 cents and a number who were unable to get to the office to take up 35 cent shares bought at 50 cents.

This means that in a very short time this issue will be absorbed and the next issue offered to the public at 75 cents or $1.00 per share.

The second party of miners leaves for the property in a few days.

Henley Does Trip From Salina Cruz in Little Over Thirteen Days

Steaming up the coast from Salina Cruz to William Head in thirteen days, six hours, making an average speed of nine knots an hour, the tramp steamship Henley, Capt. Masters, under charter to the Canadian-Mexican line, arrived at the outer wharf last night from Mexican ports, having created a record for herself. On all former trips made by the vessel she has taken from fifteen to sixteen days to make the trip and the officers of the ship feel justly proud of her performance.

While the Henley was at Salina Cruz loading her northbound cargo, two British warships came into the harbor there to coal. They were the H. M. S. Kent, of the China squadron, which has been commissioned to visit the islands of the Pacific, and the H. M. S. Challenger, of the Australian navy, which is manned by men of the Commonwealth. The Kent spent two days in the Mexican port and the Challenger five days.

When the Henley left this port on her last trip to the south the owners shipped a Chinese crew, which had

Red Men Return on Makura—Gave Sensational Exhibitions While in South

After attempting to mystify the people in the Antipodes by their many magic tricks and giving exhibitions of their war dances and other ceremonies which created quite a sensation, the Red Men of Canada who were taken on a tour of Australia by Lieut. Col. Stacy, returned to their native land this morning on the Canadian-Australian liner Makura. The Indians were well treated while in the south continent, and appeared to be in good form as they looked from the

PLEASANT VOYAGE FROM SOUTH SEAS

PASSENGERS ON MAKURA HONOR CORONATION DAY

Fine Weather Permits No End of Amusements—Brings Many Passengers North

Perhaps the most enjoyable and pleasant passage ever made by the Canadian-Australian liner Makura, Capt. Gibb, between the Antipodes and this port, was completed this morning when the big vessel tied up at the outer dock. Fine weather conditions throughout the greater part of the passage, the celebration of the coronation and the many other concerts and sports which were held very frequently all tended to make the trip a memorable one to those who came from the southern seas on visits, business trips or to reside in this country.

On Thursday last the passengers aboard the Makura showed their patriotism to their King and Queen in a most pleasant manner. Following the firing of the salute from the signal gun, everyone joined in singing the national anthem, and from daybreak till sun-down the steamship was the scene of merry-making. Every kind of amusement was indulged in, and in the evening in the commodious saloon the passengers gathered to participate in a patriotic concert. Aboard the Makura were many fine singers, together with those well trained in other musical lines and the entertainment was one of the finest ever conducted on the ship.

Capt. John Gibb, the popular skipper of the Makura, and his jovial officers, as usual were to the fore in entertaining the passengers. When his sport, Capt. Gibb is a cricketer is well known. Passages with this jolly sea-man never do seem dreary and the passengers who left the ship at this port felt loath to say good-bye to the men, who during the time they had not paced the bridge in directing the vessel's course were continually providing for the passengers' comfort.

When about two days from this coast the Makura ran into dense fog and the steamship had to proceed cautiously through the mist. In the straits last night it was of such density that the vessel dropped anchor in Neah Bay, where she remained for several hours. After leaving Brisbane the Makura experienced fresh to moderate northeast winds and after leaving Suva had splendid weather to Honolulu. Moderate northerly winds were encountered after leaving the Hawaiian port until four days out, when the wind veered around to the southeast.

The Makura had a big passenger list this trip, but there were few notables amongst the little colony. Rt. Rev. T. C. Twitcheil, bishop of Polynesia, was among the passengers and is bound for London. He joined the vessel at Suva, and is being accompanied on his trip by Rev. Canon Sharp. Those who departed here were as follows: First class: Misses V. R. Jordan, C. Burgner, Mesdames L. Bottomley, H. Hazeldine and son, Messrs. C. Williams, R. Loder, H. E. Rosworth. Second class: Misses Wright, Mesdames Wright, Babbidge, Butke and three children, Agard, Messrs. J. H. Ferguson, M. A. Graham, A. Babbidge, Butke, M. Agard. Third class: Miss J. Moore, Mesdames Daniels and two children, Messrs. J. C. Walker, E. Shipp, F. Pearson, Ringland, F. Hamilton, A. Stenzel, E. Bombach, J. H. Fisher, H. Amel, R. F. Smith.

As cargo the Makura brought north about two thousand tons, of which about three hundred tons was for this port. The local freight included the following: 254 pieces timber, 275 cases canned meats, 400 carcasses frozen mutton, 5 cases pineapples, 10 bunches bananas, 45 crates pineapples, 7 packages sundries.

LAST GRAIN CARRIER

STILL UNHEARD FROM

Blythwood Out 166 Days From Tacoma For England—Longest Passage Known

Tacoma, Wn., June 27.—Advice is expected any day announcing the arrival of the British ship Blythwood at a port in the United Kingdom with grain cargo from Tacoma. The Blythwood is the last of the grain fleet to be heard from, and is distinguished herself by making the slowest voyage of the season. The Blythwood left the Sound on January 12, and has not since been reported.

The French barque Du Quene, which went to sea a day after the Blythwood, long since arrived home and made a slow passage of 162 days, arriving at Falmouth on June 5. The French barque Admiral De Cornulier, which left the Sound the same day as the Blythwood, reached the United Kingdom ahead of the Du Quene, arriving there after a passage of 129 days.

The French barques Montcalm and Notre Dame made slow passages home, the former taking 153 days and the latter 154 days.

As the British ship Blythwood is considered a smart sailer, her slow passage on this voyage is naturally attracting some attention among the shippers. She is out 166 days to-day.

FINISH REPAIRS TO RUPERT AT SEATTLE

Making Trip North Sunday—Improvements Involve Sum of $20,000

Seattle, Wash., June 27.—Her boilers overhauled and adapted to the forced draft of the Pacific Coast coal at the Union Boiler Works, at an expense of $20,000, the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince Rupert, will shift to Esquimaux to have her bottom cleaned and painted, taking her run Sunday night for Prince Rupert for the summer commercial excursion travel through the American Alaskan country and the Portland Canal.

Many inquiries have been received since the opening of the Grand Trunk railway from Prince Rupert eastward to Van Arsdol, 100 miles distant, along the roaring Skeena river canyon. The vessel will book a large number of summer excursionists who will take their first trip to the new mineral and agricultural country. The route is through the Canadian island groups, past Metlakatla and up the Portland Canal and its glaciers, 200 miles northward.

A new coaling record was recently made by Japanese coolies, men and women, in placing in the bunkers of the Pacific Mail liner Manchuria 4,100 tons of coal in the short space of nine and one-half hours. Upwards of one thousand persons, mostly women, were employed in this operation, who, with almost miniature hammers, performed this hand-to-hand work.

MARINE NOTES

Carrying a full cargo of general freight, the little freighter Trader left port last night for New Westminster and other Fraser river points.

At noon to-day the steamer Queen City left port for River's Inlet and way ports with a full cargo of freight and many passengers.

For many months past great difficulty has been experienced in Australia and New Zealand in securing firemen to replace deserters on steamers. Vessel after vessel has been delayed, particularly in New Zealand, in consequence, and only after acceding to exorbitant demands in the matter of pay are steamers able to get away. Thirty-five pounds or £40 has been paid to firemen for the run home and it is even said that £75 per man for the run home was put down on the captain's head of a ship ready to sail from New Zealand.

HARRISON LINER "CENTURION"

The first big freighter of this line docked at the Outer Wharf yesterday morning, fifty-six days' steaming from Swansen. In addition to a large cargo the steamer carried bunker coal for the whole voyage and had eight hundred tons left when she reached Victoria. The Centurion is the first steamer to come here without coaling en route, and her voyage is the fastest yet made.

been brought from the Orient. It had been a difficult task to get white men to work on the steamer owing to the excessive heat in the south. To remedy this the Orientals were secured and the officers report that they worked well and if they continue to do so they will be retained.

About twenty-five hundred tons of general cargo was brought here by the Henley and early this morning she commenced to discharge her local freight. She had eight hundred tons for this port, which included principally water pipes from Europe which had been shipped to Salina Cruz via the Tehuantepec railway. The remainder of her freight consisted of odds and ends which had been collected at the southern terminus from various parts. The Henley sails for the south on the fifteenth of next month.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB TO HOLD GYMKHANA

Unique Event Arranged for One Week From Saturday—The Programme

One week from Saturday, July 8, an automobile gymkhana will be held at the Willows track under the auspices of the Automobile Club. Not only the majority of automobilists in Victoria but many of those identified with the sport on the mainland have signified their intention of taking part and, with an able committee, of which Mrs. H. Dallas Helmcken is acting secretary, in charge, there is every reason to believe that the event will be one of the most noteworthy of the year. Tea will be served on the grounds during the afternoon.

Cash prizes will be given in the competitions in which gentlemen are entered, while many handsome trophies have been donated for the ladies' events. These will be on view in W. J.

Wilson's windows later on and have been promised by the following: W. H. Wilkerson, Challoner & Mitchell, Weller Bros., B. Todd, Biggarstaff Wilson, H. H. Helmcken, K.C.; G. Wilson, D. R. Ker and Mrs. Campbell.

Next Friday evening, June 30, the Automobile Club will hold a meeting at room 412, Pemberton block, to arrange all details of the affair. Entries should be sent in to Mrs. Helmcken, Empress hotel, at the earliest possible date.

A cash prize of $50 will be given for the most beautifully decorated automobile and $25 for the best comic car. Ladies are not expected to participate in the procession through the city, but are to be at the Willows not later than 2 o'clock.

The auto parade will start from Cook and Pandora streets, go down Pandora to Government, to Humboldt, to Cook, Rockland, to Oak Bay avenue, Foul Bay road to race track.

The programme of events is as follows: 1. Procession around track, judging for first comic car, also most beautiful car. Ladies and gentlemen separate prizes.

2. Gentlemen's obstacle race, some of the suggested "obstacles" being: Start from standstill with engine dead. At report of gun crank car and run to space between two lines, stop and take on a passenger, driver to jump out and open and shut door for passenger.

keeping both feet on ground until passenger is in and door shut. Then back car to starting line (rear wheels across or more). Go ahead again to a stall constructed on side of track, backcar in stall, remove a spark plug and hold it up above head, then put back and go to next obstacle, which will consist of stopping opposite a ladder and mounting same from car, not touching ground, to a platform on which will be a bell for driver to ring, then down and on to next obstacle, the gate—a bar across road—driver will open and go through, then close after and finish in front of grandstand.

3. Ladies' obstacle race. Suggestions same as in No. 2, except as regards removing of spark plug.

4. Gentlemen's tourney, $10.

5. Ladies' tourney.

6. High gear slow race, open for ladies and gentlemen.

7. Australian pursuit race for Ford cars driven by owners.

8. Tire changing contest in front of grandstand; prize, new outer case. To be performed in front of grandstand on two or more cars at same time. Chauffeur to remove tire and deposit inner tube in a box at least 40 feet from machine. After a rest of one minute replace tire and pump 20 strokes. First one finishing 20 strokes wins.

9. Professional race; any car, any power, any price. Free for all.

Between each event when there is a lull in the proceedings any driver can try the see-saw. There will be a judge to count the number of times he or she has to change gears. The driver accomplishing the balance with the fewest gear changes wins.

WILL PURCHASE LINE.

Weir Company to Take Over Portland and Asiatic Steamship Co.

Portland, Ore., June 27.—Blackwell Statter, manager for Statter & Co., and the Portland agent for the Waterhouse line of steamships, returned from Seattle yesterday morning and confirmed the report that the proposition of Waterhouse & Co. to purchase the business of the Portland and Asiatic Steamship Co. is under consideration. He said that it might be four days and possibly longer before anything definite may be done about the matter.

The Iroquois investigation was to have opened before Mr. Justice Martin and two nautical assessors this morning but has been postponed until Thursday at 10:30 a. m.

LIBRARIAN LECTURES ON THE ISLAND COLONY

Mr. Scholefield Interests Natural History Society—Future Plans

The Natural History Society held its regular meeting at the Friends' Hall, Courtenay street last evening. There were a number of members present.

E. A. Wallace exhibited a flower picked at Shavangin Lake, which he thought was disa agerata. Mr. Wallace and Mr. Nation both spoke of having seen this in various parts of the mainland. The flower was given to one of the members for identification and report at the next meeting.

Mr. Crocker exhibited a large collection of butterflies, collected during his tour of boreal America, north of Mexico. Mr. Crocker promised to give an informal talk on these at next meeting.

A. W. McCurdy suggested having field meetings during the summer months and perhaps some dredging trips. It was proposed to arrange for a field meeting at Pedder Bay on Saturday, July 8, to view Inar pelles, and on the following Saturday to investigate the glacial pot-holes and forest growth at Esquimalt.

E. O. S. Scholefield gave the society a rare treat in his paper on "The Colony of Vancouver of Vancouver Island—1849 to 1866." The historical facts recounted by the lecturer were most interesting, and his account of the joint occupancy by the British and American governments, the location of the international boundary line, the report of Sir James Douglas as Sooko Harbor, Pedder Bay, Esquimalt and Camosun as a point for the location of a fort held the attention of the audience.

Mr. Scholefield told of the political intrigue between the Hudson Bay Company and the British government as to the taking up of land "by settlement" of the landing of Governor Blanchard, who found himself a governor without any people to govern; of the appointment of Sir James Douglas and Governor Kennedy; of the absorption of the colony of Vancouver Island into that of British Columbia, and in closing dealt on the fact that the colony of Vancouver Island had been a free-trade colony while that of British Columbia had been highly protected.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by O. C. Hastings, who gave an interesting reminiscence of his first visit to the island in the sloop "Mary Taylor." This was seconded by Carl Loewenburgh, and unanimously carried.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

Vancouver Island Can Supply Fine Quality of Cascara Bark.

It seems likely that a new industry will be started on Vancouver Island. It is well known that the supply of cascara bark, or as it is commonly called "Barberry bark," which has been almost entirely, of late years, obtained from the states of Oregon and Washington, has nearly become exhausted in those places. As a result of this, manufacturers of medicines in which the bark is used are being forced to look for other directions for the raw material. This, according to F. E. Cornelle, a broker who represents some of the largest users of cascara bark, grows in abundance on Vancouver Island. In fact, considerable quantities of it have already been gathered and shipped.

Mr. Cornelle says that his principals are in a position to take four carloads of bark immediately. They are willing to pay good prices for delivery of it at tidewater. Cascara bark was gathered and used by the Indians and early settlers for many years for medicinal purposes. The tree from which the bark is peeled is found in low, swampy ground, and resembles somewhat the alder. The bark is rougher than that of the alder and the trees themselves are not as large.

It is expected that settlers in the districts where the cascara grows plentifully will at once begin the work of peeling and drying the bark for shipping. Within the past few months more than one hundred tons have been shipped from the Little River district, and smaller quantities have been sent out from time to time before.

79 Lots Sold!

A short time ago we put on a subdivision of 87 high, dry, clear, level lots—up to date we have sold 79 lots.

There is no choice in the lots, as one lot is just as high, dry, clear and level as another. Therefore the remaining eight lots which we will offer this week only, will undoubtedly be taken up very quickly.

Remember, there will be no waiting for the remainder of the subdivision to be sold before you can relist your property at an advanced figure, as these lots will be sold this week.

We believe there is no better investment in the city to-day, and the price and terms place the lots within any one's reach.

The property is bounded by Haultain street, Foul Bay Road, Charlton street and Dean avenue, within the two mile circle, within 3 minutes' walk of the Fort-street car, and it is right in line for improvements. Make it a point to see these remaining lots without delay.

Price $650 each, on terms of $65 cash and the balance at the rate of $15 per month.

What is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

It is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain, and as none but sound, clean grain can be malted, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has for its base the most carefully selected grains of the field. It is predigested liquid food in the form of a medicinal whiskey; its palatability and freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach.

It is a gentle, invigorating stimulant and tonic that influences for good every important organ of the body. It is a remedy that should be in the family medicine chest.

It builds up the nerve tissues, tones up the heart, gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to the muscles and richness to the blood. It brings into action all the vital forces; it makes digestion perfect and enables you to get from the food you eat all the nourishment it contains.

It strengthens and sustains the system, is a promoter of good health and longevity, makes the old feel young and keeps the young strong and vigorous.

It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of nervousness, typhoid, malaria, all stomach troubles, diseases of the throat and lungs, and is recognized as a medicine by doctors of all schools.

All liquor dealers, or direct, $1.50 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. Medical booklet and doctor's advice sent free.

A most enjoyable fandel dance was held at the Strathcona hotel on Saturday evening that proved to be one of the finest outings for some time to Victoria dancing people. The ball-room was handsomely decorated with evergreens, flags and lanterns, while the buffet room looked charming in a lattice-work of wild ivy and roses. Dancing continued until midnight, when a most dainty buffet supper was served and heartily enjoyed by those present. Bantley's orchestra supplied the latest and most up-to-date music. Messrs. Lucas and Sweeney are to be congratulated upon the way the dance was managed and also on the decorations. The outside of the hotel was a mass of flags, streamers and red, white and blue bunting in honor of the coronation, the Strathcona being the most prettily decked resort on the island.

MRS. W. E. DYER DEAD.
Was Daughter of A. Francis, Formerly United States Consul at Victoria.

Seattle, Wash., June 27.—Mrs. Huldah Grace Dyer, of Portland, daughter of Allan Francis, formerly American consul at Victoria, B. C., died last evening at the Hotel Washington after a two weeks' illness from pneumonia, contracted on an automobile ride from Portland to Seattle, whither she came accompanied by her husband, Walter E. Dyer, before starting on a two years' trip around the world.

Mrs. Dyer was a native of Springfield, Ill., but lived the greater part of her life in Victoria, to which city her father was appointed consul by President Lincoln.

Mrs. Dyer was twice married. Her first husband was Byron Z. Holmes, a Portland capitalist, who died in 1888. Two years later she married Mr. Dyer, an aviator, formerly of Chicago, but of late years a citizen of Portland. The body will be shipped to Portland to-day where the funeral will be held. The interment will be in Silverview cemetery. Besides her husband she is survived by a sister, Mrs. David Edgar, of Staten Island, N. Y.

PRINCESS CLOTHILDE DEAD.
Turin, June 27.—Princess Clothilde, widow of Prince Napoleon Bonaparte, died here on Sunday. She was an aunt of King Victor Emmanuel.

Little Ethel had been given many mechanical toys which she delighted to wind up and watch them speed around the room. One day the cat took a fit, and as it rushed around in a dizzy circle Ethel's mamma screamed and climbed a chair. Ethel, however, watched until the cat began to slacken speed, and then yelled, "Wind her up again, mamma, wind her up again."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By Ruth Cameron

"And he is so good to me," said the engaged lady, therewith concluding her estate category of "himself" virtues and her list of reasons why she was so fortunate in being about to marry him. Incidentally, she evidently thought that one of the very best reasons perhaps the best.

And so, undoubtedly, do most of the ladies who revel in the splendid service their knights of the loving heart do them.

And yet is it really any reason at all?

Does the fact that the man in love becomes beautifully generous and tender-hearted and chivalrous towards his lady love prove anything at all, except that he isn't a positive monstrosity?

All men are good to the women they love.

It seems to me the real test is—has your knight the qualities that will make him good to the woman he doesn't love.

Listen to what Agnes Repplier thinks about it.

"It is not what a man does when he is in love; but what he does when he is out of love (Phillip drunk to Phillip sober), which counts for characterization. That pleasant old romancer, Maistre Rusticano di Pisa, tells us that a courtier once asked Meliadus, his son, whether he held King Meliadus in more esteem when he was the better man, or when he was the better man."

As far as I can see everything that Tristran did was done for love, and his great feats would never have been done save under the constraint of love, which was his spur and goad.

Now, the same thing can never be said of Meliadus. For what deeds he did, he did them not by dint of love, but by dint of his strong right arm. Purely out of his own goodness he did good and not by constraint of love.

It is this element of coercion which gives us pause. Not out of his own goodness, nor out of his own badness, does the lover act; but goaded on by a force too impetuous for resistance. When this force is spent, then we can test the might of his "strong right arm."

It seems to me there is a good deal of food for thought in these paragraphs for the girl who is choosing her life partner.

Yes, I get your objection. It would be hardly pleasant or convenient for the lady to wait to test the true worth of her lover until the force of his love is spent.

Still I think any woman, no matter how much she is in love, can and should stand aside from her love and try to judge whether this man who is so good to her, the woman he loves, has also the qualities which will make him good to the women he doesn't love.

By this test and this test alone, it seems to me, can she truly judge whether he will be as good to live with as a husband as he has been as a lover.

A HANDSOME BLOUSE.

The semi-made kimono blouse is a boon to the woman who desires handsome effects but cannot afford the finished garments. All-over lace is one of the favorite materials for the separate blouse, as well as chiffon, and an unusually dainty design which brings out the beauty of the lace is shown in the sketch. The bolero effect is very smart and the arrangement of the band trimmings new and effective.

Henry John Cook, who had been missionary at the seamen's Bethel, on the North Beach at Lowestoft, for several years, expired suddenly during the singing of a hymn at the close of his sermon.

TRUSTEES TO TAKE
ESTIMATES TO COURT

Nelson School Board and City Council Fail to Agree on Finance

Nelson, June 26.—Nothing came of the conference between the city council and school board committees in spite of the offer of the council to meet the board half way, if they would make some concessions by reducing their estimates for the year.

As the school board with the payment of the July salaries, practically exhausts the sum which the city council considers it can, with due regard to the other calls on its finances, devote to school purposes, the next move will in all probability be made by the trustees. This move, according to a statement by Dr. E. C. Arthur, secretary, will be to take the matter into court.

Dr. Arthur indicated that James O'Shea, who is acting for the trustees, would probably consult E. V. Bodwell, K. C., regarding the form which the action shall take, which will likely be that of mandamus proceedings, the school board asking the Supreme Court to direct that the council pay the warrants which it issues.

The conference between the mayor, Ald. Stark and Ald. Hume, who acted for the council, and Dr. E. C. Arthur, R. G. Joy and A. D. Emory, who represented the school board, occupied about an hour.

On the previous evening the mayor and Ald. Stark, as spokesmen for the city fathers, indicated to the trustees that if they would give evidence of doing all in their power to meet the council by reducing their demands the council would be willing to compromise.

The school board committee, however, did not make any proposition of that nature.

There was a suggestion that a joint committee of the council and the school board should go down to Victoria and place the matter before the government. This suggestion was not acted upon on the grounds that the majority of the members of the cabinet were absent from the capital and that the matter was an urgent one as delay in deciding the questions at issue might result in the closing of the schools for the balance of the year.

PRESENTATION TO DR. DAVIS.

Nanaimo, June 26.—At the close of the last meeting of Nanaimo Aerie No. 15 Fraternal Order of Eagles, a social session was held the interesting feature being a presentation to Dr. L. T. Davis of a handsome club bag, a suit case and toilet set combined, by the members of the Aerie. The presentation was made by Past President Dr. John Ross, who on behalf of the Aerie, expressed regrets that the doctor by reason of his appointment as provincial health inspector, had been compelled to leave the city and resign his position as worthy physician of the Aerie in which position he had always been a faithful and efficient officer.

Dr. Davis replied in a few well chosen remarks, concluding his speech with the best wishes for the future prosperity of Nanaimo Aerie.

VANCOUVER FATALITY.

Vancouver, June 26.—Frank C. Adams, a yard foreman employed by the C. P. R., was almost instantly killed in the company's yards shortly before midnight Saturday by having his head so badly crushed that he only survived a little over an hour.

Hearing his calls for help, men in the yard rushed up to the scene of the accident. A call was sent in for the city ambulance, but before it arrived an express wagon had been procured in which the injured man was taken to St. Paul's Hospital. Dr. X. McPhillips was summoned to attend him, but before his arrival life was extinct. The deceased was a married man, living at 100 Broadway East, and leaves a wife and two little children.

ASK INCREASED PAY.

Chilliwack, June 26.—At the last meeting of the city council a communication was received from the fire brigade requesting that a salary of 75 cents be given to all members appearing at practice, the practice to be not oftener than once a week, and that $2.50 be given to each member of the brigade fighting fires. The request was thought to be unreasonable by all members of the council. The members visiting Revelstoke a couple of weeks ago cited that city as paying the fire brigade there 75 cents an hour for fighting fires. This was thought to be a reasonable scale of payment and Alderman Waddington, chairman of the fire, water and light committee, was instructed to wait upon the members of the brigade and arrange an agreeable wage.

LOGGER'S TRYING EXPERIENCE.

Haleyton, June 26.—With a raft made of logs, on which he was trying to reach Nakusp from here, an unknown man was picked up by W. Boyd in a state of collapse. He had been battling against a heavy wind, following along the shore when he fell exhausted across the stationary platform built by him to stand on. He was brought here where he was treated, and tells a harrowing tale of his experience. He had been without food for many hours when rescued.

KETTLE VALLEY ROAD.

Midway, June 26.—The Kettle Valley railway has put on two more work trains which are working on the grading of the fifteen miles of new roadbed which is being rapidly completed.

GIVEN SIX MONTHS.

Vancouver, June 26.—William Hewitt came up before Judge McInnes and pleaded guilty of attempting to pass a bogus cheque for $35 on a local bank. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

GRANT TO PRINCE
RUPERT HOSPITAL

Council Votes $5,000 to Institution—Two Members on the Board

Prince Rupert, June 26.—A grant of $5,000 was voted by the council for the hospital.

The mayor assured Ald. Newton that the hospital board would now allow two members of the council to vote on their body, thus seeing that the cash was properly spent, but Ald. Newton said the matter of the grant had never been properly brought before him, and he would rather not discuss it in open council.

Ald. Hilditch, who is a strong believer in the civic support of the hospital, thought it was too bad that the biggest part of the burden of supporting a hospital for the sick and hurt in Prince Rupert should be borne only by the liberal minded members of the community. He expressed himself enthusiastically in support of the $5,000 grant, and said if it had been $5,000 he would have been enthusiastically supported. The motion to make the grant $5,000 was carried, everybody except Ald. Newton in favor of it.

KICKED BY HORSE.

Vernon, June 26.—Mayor Husband had the misfortune to meet with a rather painful accident while attending the military camp at Kamloops. His horse stepped in a hole and made a complete somersault, and while on the ground his horse was kicked several times by the animal, with the result that one of his ribs was fractured. He is able to be around, but is suffering a good deal of pain and inconvenience from the accident.

TRIAL ADJOURNMENT.

Vernon, June 26.—The young lad Lancy, who was charged with shooting with intent to kill, came up before Judge Swanson and the case was adjourned until the August court, when the charge will probably be changed to one of a less serious nature. The woman whom he shot through the leg is progressing favorably, and was never in a dangerous condition.

FAVORED NATIONS TREATY ABROGATED

What Sir Wilfrid Laurier Secured at Council of Imperial Conference

The way Sir Wilfrid Laurier got his resolution with regard to most favored nation treaties through the Imperial conference was really a great personal triumph.

There was a suspicion that some of the spell that fascinated the Imperial gatherings in bygone days had been lost, that the new commercial policy represented by the reciprocity agreement with the United States was unpopular around the conference board, and that Canada's Premier had lost his influence and had no more the power to sway the councils of the Empire.

That such a supposition and such fears were groundless was amply shown when the Imperial conference passed with a unanimity as significant as it was welcome a resolution that implied the cordial recognition of the agreement itself as in no way hurtful to the Empire and a full realization of the advantages it gives in the working out of the destiny of the Dominion.

In order to give a proper understanding of the situation it is necessary to explain what the treaties are to which exception may be taken if the reciprocity agreement becomes the keystone of the arch of Canadian and American trade.

What Sir Wilfrid Laurier proposed was that the British Government should open negotiations with the foreign countries having treaties which apply to the Overseas Dominions with a view to securing liberty for any of these Dominions which may so desire to withdraw from the operation of the treaty without impairing the treaty in respect to the rest of the Empire.

The treaties of this character which hamper Canada's freedom of action are twelve in number, and include those with Switzerland, Spain, Argentina, Bolivia, Austria-Hungary, Denmark, Russia, and Sweden. Under the treaties Canada must give to each of these twelve countries—for nothing whatever tariff concessions she sells for equivalent concessions to other countries. Thus the concessions given to the United States under the proposed reciprocity agreement have all to be given to them without equivalent. Basing their fiscal policy upon the principle of something for something, instead of the English Free Trade principle of everything for nothing, neither Canada, nor the United States is happy.

Of course, these treaties were made at a time when Canada had no external trade worth talking about, except with the Motherland and the United States and the restriction did not matter. But she is now taking her place among the trading nations of the world, and she seeks to be free to do the best she can for herself. The reasonableness of the Canadian desire was long since admitted by British statesmen. For something like two decades Canada and the other Dominions have been at liberty to retire, upon a year's notice, from British treaties of commerce.

A specific stipulation to that effect forms part of the treaty with Roumania and the newly concluded treaty with Japan. But the twelve old treaties remain to block the way, and the mischief is, that only by grace of foreign countries concerned can Canadian freedom be obtained. We recall how Germany behaved when Canada desired freedom from the treaty of 1865, so that to-day there is in consequence no treaty between Great Britain and Germany, and each of these other foreign countries may prove equally difficult. But the demand which Sir Wilfrid makes is a perfectly reasonable one from Canada's standpoint, and we must wait and see how it strikes Sir Edward Grey and the foreign office, who have taken cognizance of the whole Empire position in relation to foreign powers.

But though Sir Edward Grey may be able to use British influence to release Canada from these old-standing engagements, the complications in the treaty relations of the Empire will remain.

INTERIOR SMELTER

Nelson, June 26.—In spite of the coke situation, consequent on the strike in the coal fields, the ore tonnage of the mines of the interior is practically undiminished, and the smelters of the Kootenay and Boundary are all operating, with no immediate prospect of shutting down. The Granby smelter, the only one to cease operations, closed down three weeks ago, but has now blown in again six of its eight furnaces, and the Granby mine at Phoenix, which was closed for the same period, is again operating full force and has resumed shipments. Up to the suspension the mine produced, and the smelter treated, this year, 458,982 tons. To date this year the British Columbia Copper Company's smelter at Greenwood, which handles the ore of the Kootenay at large, including that of the company, has treated 172,885 tons, a proportion of this being concentrates from the numerous mills. All three smelters are using Pennsylvania coke, and have supplies to carry them for some time.

TWENTY INJURED.

Chicago, June 27.—Twenty persons were injured when a special train of three cars on the Chicago & Milwaukee Interurban, loaded with members of the German singing society of Chicago, returning from the North American Saengerbund convention in Milwaukee, crashed into the rear of a train between North Chicago and Waukegan.

Wireless apparatus for transmitting correct time direct from observatories to offices, stores and residences on land and to vessels at sea has been invented by two Frenchmen.

BISHOP WILLIAMS ON CHURCH LIFE

Sees Evidences of Early Revival of Intense and Practical Religion

Ray Stannard Baker, the well-known muckraker, has written a book entitled "The Spiritual Unrest," in which he argues that the Christian Church is a diminishing factor in civilization. It is losing in numbers to begin with. It is not keeping step with the enormous increase of population in the cities; and in the country the "silent churches" are multiplying. It turns its back upon the congested populations in the downtown regions, and follows its chosen clientele of the well-to-do into the choicer residential districts. It is losing in authority, and men do not heed it as they used to do. Reviewing the book in the American Magazine, the Right Reverend Charles D. Williams, Bishop of Michigan, agrees with almost every statement made by Mr. Baker. He draws a sharp distinction between religion and the church, and takes the view that it is because there is a conflict between them that the church is losing ground. This is true of both Protestant and Roman Catholic churches, and though the latter communion keeps up a "specious appearance of outward prosperity, its root is cut."

This is an age of criticism and upheaval, when old things are passing away, but Bishop Williams does not believe that it is essentially an unreligious age. He believes that the influence of higher criticism and modernism has been overrated. The average man knows little and cares less about them, a fact that the bishop considers proved by the failure of those churches who have adjusted themselves to the criticism and philosophy of the day to greatly flourish. He thinks the average man wants his religion with a "tang" to it. He thinks that "liberal Christianity" is like the sunshine with the acetic rays eliminated—a dry light without vitality or heat. Moreover, the man who is much influenced by criticism must be aware that "science and philosophy are rapidly passing from the merely negative and destructive phase of their development to the positive and constructive. They are fast becoming necessities to spiritual truth." Finally, the words of Prof. William James are quoted, to the effect that "A wave of religious activity analogous in some respects to the spread of early Christianity, Buddhism, and Mohammedanism is passing over our American world."

It is not, therefore, as Bishop Williams argues, the environment of the church that is at fault, despite the materialism of the age. The church holds fast to ancient forms of dogma and ethics which are too small to contain the new spirit of religion. In fact, the church refuses to recognize that the new spirit is a spirit of religion at all. She is like the hen that hatches out a setting of duck's eggs, and is terrified when the ducklings take to the water. She does not know her own children, and is blind to the truth that the spirit and teachings of Christ and His Apostles is finding expression "in mighty impulses and movements of scientific, philosophical research, political righteousness, social service, economic justice, commercial honesty, and industrial equity." The church has not shown her confidence in all truth as God's truth, being rather of opinion that much truth is of the devil.

Christ was known as the friend of publicans and sinners, but the associations of the church are all with the saved. Her mission seems to be to call the righteous to "patient continuance in well-doing and respectability, and not sinners to repentance." If religion starts out on the original quest of Christ "to seek and save the lost," it must again go outside the regular church into movements like the Salvation Army. The church not only confines herself mostly to the respectable classes, but puts herself into a position of dependence upon them. She accepts without question tainted money, and often muzzles the mouths of prophets lest they offend the sources of munificence. Her charities deal rather with the symptoms of social disease than with the causes. She sends out her corps of Red Cross nurses to minister to the wounded in our unequal economic and industrial conflict, but she does not address herself to the causes of the strife.

Bishop Williams sees many signs that this conflict between the church and religion is not to last. The movement toward church union he considers most hopeful. Men are learning that if their foreign missions are to amount to anything, Christianity must sink the non-essentials and enlist all its workers on a common basis. "What do the Westminster Confession or the Thirty-nine Articles mean to an intelligent Chinese or Japanese?" Speaking of the final reconciliation of the church of the future and its religion, he concludes: "If that reconciliation is to be effected, the church cannot remake religion, cannot shrink it into the old convenient and conventional type, cannot crowd it back into the old doctrinal and ecclesiastical forms. Religion made the church in the first place, and it must remake it to-day—remake it into the natural and hospitable home of all that is best and highest in our modern life and world."

GYRO-COMPASS TO REPLACE MAGNETIC

Interesting Discoveries of Modern Science Enlarge Field of Knowledge

There have been many changes in navigation and in the way of going to sea in ships in the last sixty years, but it looks as if the greatest of all is at hand—a greater even than the transformation of the ocean carrying power from sailing ships to steamers and the substitution of steel for the old wooden walls. It means nothing less radical than the extinction of the mariner's compass and its supersession by the gyroscope.

This rival which would banish the trusted guide and stand-by of the mariner in the art of navigation is not exactly so young as the name seems to imply. It embodies the application of an old and very interesting principle of motion to modern conditions and requirements. It is now the subject of discussion among engineers and navigators who may be called the top-notchers in their professions and soon it will be common knowledge.

If the needle should perforce give way, as seems likely, to the gyroscope, it will do so with a record of service that goes far into the past. Everybody, of course, knows that the mariner's compass points north and south, but everybody does not know why it does so.

The mystery, however, is a beautiful one if it is looked at in the light of present day knowledge. It was Newton who first showed that every portion of matter attracts every other portion with a force which depends upon mass and distance. Though this law has nothing to do with the needle's directive properties, it helps us more clearly to understand them. Suppose, for example, one of the portions of matter is the earth and the other portion an airship moving near its surface. When the airship rises, the earth's attraction diminishes; when it falls, the earth's attraction increases. The intensity of the earth's pull varies, and depends on the distance between earth and airship. The airship is moving in what is called a field of force of varying intensity, and the action of the force at every point of the field is to pull the airship straight down to the earth.

Similarly, a magnet, whatever its shape may be, is surrounded by a field of force. When iron filings are sprinkled upon a sheet of paper laid upon the ends of a magnet its lines of force are revealed by most lovely curves. Now, the mariner's compass tells us that the earth is a great magnet. It also shows the direction of the line of the earth's magnetic force through any point on its surface. The compass is a magnetized piece of steel, balanced on a pivot so that it can move freely in a horizontal plane. When at rest, the direction in which it points indicates the direction of a line of force. Consequently the needle points nearly north and south.

The directive property of the magnetic needle was known to the Chinese 4,000 years ago. Hundreds of years before the compass was used on European seas the Chinese navigated the Indian Ocean according to the indication of a magnetic needle. Though the compass took various forms, in every case it was only the indication of the south, and not the north, as in the European compass of to-day, to which the Chinese gave heed. It was Gilbert, physician to Queen Elizabeth, who first proved that the earth itself acts like a great magnet whose poles or points at which its attractive power is apparently concentrated are seated one in the Arctic and the other in the Antarctic circle.

The action of the earth, however, is purely directive and not attractive. A needle placed on a cork in a basin of water assumes at once its north and south position. A pair of equal and opposite forces is evidently at work. The north end of the needle is pulled northward and its south end southward. The two forces twist the needle about its point of suspension.

When the needle obeys—that is, when it is in line with the forces that constrain it—then it is at rest. Moreover, the earth never makes a mistake as to the poles or ends of a needle. If a needle be turned completely round, so that its north end points south, the earth at once distinguishes the poles and sets them in their proper position.

The gyro-compass, or gyroscope, which threatens to supplant the old friend of the navigator is simply a glorified spinning top. It consists of a heavy ring of metal mounted on an axle like a wheel. The ring is placed in a frame and set in rapid rotation. When invented by Foucault, nearly sixty years ago, it became notorious because it rendered visible the diurnal rotation of the earth. The principle of the gyro-compass is that its axle tends to maintain a constant direction in space; in other words, the earth constrains it to move about an axis due north and south, and consequently the axle of the rotating wheels tries to put itself parallel to the north and south direction. Hence, with such an instrument, it is easy to find the true north as distinguished from the magnetic north.

Even under the most unusual conditions the gyroscope would vibrate about a constant position in the same way as the magnetic needle. Supposing no stars were visible, or a long journey in a submarine were possible, the gyroscope could prove that the earth has a motion of rotation, it could give the direction of the geographical north, and also the latitude. It is surely a most impressive fact that both the needle and the gyroscope, when only capable of horizontal motion, point to the north. It is even more impressive when one remembers that magnetism itself depends on rotation.

The gyro-compass is driven by an electric motor which keeps its heavy disc rotating at 20,000 revolutions per minute. The instrument is so arranged that the disc is vertical and its axis horizontal. According to Foucault's principle, already referred to, the result is that the axle of the gyro wheel

ACCIDENT TO THE IMPERIAL LIMITED

Collides With Work Train West of Calgary—Several Persons Injured

Bear's Paw, Alta., June 27.—The Imperial Limited, due in Calgary at 2:05, collided fourteen miles west of Calgary with a work train consisting of a locomotive and cabooses, at 1:40 o'clock this morning.

The injured follow: Mrs. A. W. Fader, Gadsby; John Falconer, Vancouver; D. Becker, Vancouver; B. Daniels, Vancouver; D. D. Holmes, Calgary, all passengers; F. W. Butler, engineer; C. Anderson, engineer; T. C. Gibbons, fireman, Calgary; and D. Bailey, fireman.

assume the proportions which under legal inspection they appear to have. Of course all contracts of the kind are subject to fluctuation of the most radical character, and unless there be some objection of other than a legal nature to be brought against the scheme it is quite possible that such adjustments can be made and sacrifices offered and accepted as will make the proposition acceptable to all concerned.

The draft agreement which the council was asked to subscribe to, in the first place provided for a perpetual franchise to be given the company without compensation, and the use and occupancy of the streets and route of the tracks. It granted the company power to operate the system by steam, electricity, cable, or gas.

It agreed to exempt the company from municipal taxation on all its lands, plant and equipment within the city limits. In regard to the Causeway difficulty it said: "The plans of the Causeway crossing the water between the Canadian Pacific Railway wharves at the foot of Menzies street, and the Victoria Dock Company's wharf on Wharf street shall be approved by a committee consisting of the Deputy Minister of Railways, the city engineer and a third party appointed by the other members of the committee, and when signed by a majority of them shall be filed with the Minister of Railways and shall be binding on both parties, providing always, that should such places as approved be not acceptable to the Governor in Council, Minister of Public Works for Canada, or the Railway Board of Canada, and be amended or changed the parties will agree to accept such amendments."

Until the company covers its track in front of the Causeway it is also provided in the agreement that it should agree to operate its cars over the line in front of the Causeway between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

The following is the proposed plan of the route according to the agreement: Starting at the outer wharves and crossing Ontario street, Erie street and Dallas road, thence following the water front to the foot of Menzies street, or in lieu thereof following a suitable route along the city streets to a point at or near the foot of Menzies street. Continuing, the route follows as closely as practicable the shore line, paralleling Belleville, Government and Wharf streets, crossing public lanes at the foot of Yates, Johnson and Cormorant streets, passing under the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Bridge, crossing at the foot of Herald and Discovery, and following Constance street across Rock Bay to the foot of Bridge street, thence following Constance street across Rock Bay to the foot of Bridge street, thence following Bridge street to a point on Selkirk water.

For extensions the agreement reads: from the east of Victoria harbor, crossing Victoria Arm over or above Point Ellice bridge to a connection with the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway, and the Canadian Northern Pacific railway on the Songhees reserve, or to other points thereon as occasion may arise; crossing or running along and crossing Esquimalt road and other roads and streets coming into possession or under the control of the city through the subdivision of the Songhees reserve or any part or parts thereof; and a continuation of this line will be made to Esquimalt harbor crossing Alston, Catherine, Mary and Russell streets, and other street ends in Victoria west on the north side of Victoria harbor.

Branch lines are to be built to connect with various industries now situated or to be established on the waterfront near the following points: Dallas road, at a point near or opposite to the police commissioners' office, the B. C. Electric Ry. Co., the C. P. R., the Fifth Regiment and the V. & S. Ry. Co., with a view to getting those companies to interest their employees in the ambulance work. The next meeting of the society will be held on July 10.

A very successful and largely attended meeting of the Epworth League of the Metropolitan church was held last evening. Mr. Clifford Robinson read a paper on the Necessity of the Enforcement of the Lord's Day Act in British Columbia, and G. W. Wright gave an address on Church Union. A representative of the Reading Camp Association outlined the work done in the lumber camps and construction camps of B. C. by representatives of the association. It was decided to give aid to the work in the camps in the Sooke neighborhood. The work of the league is to be pushed with renewed vigor during the summer months.

Dudley H. Anderson will have charge of the meeting next Monday evening. On the following Monday evening Rev. Dr. Wadman, superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Missions in the Hawaiian Islands, will give an illustrated lecture on "Picturesque Hawaii."

AWARDED BIG CONTRACT.

Winnipeg, June 27.—The contract for the big round house of the Grand Trunk Pacific at Regina has been let to the Carter Halls Aldinger Co., Winnipeg.

BULLOCK TESTIFIES AGAINST JOHN DAY

Cross-Examination of Former Storekeeper and Commander Vivian Lasts All Afternoon

The evidence for the prosecution in the preliminary hearing of the charge of having had in his possession a quantity of paint and candles valued at $452, part of the Esquimalt naval stores, such stores having been stolen, which is laid against John Day of Esquimalt, was continued yesterday afternoon in the police court, when Frederick Bullock was heard and cross-examined.

He said that during the time he was storekeeper at the Victoria Machinery Depot John Day had one day come to the yard and said to him that he (Day) would bring round a load of stuff that night and for him to "tell Billy," meaning the accused Houston. Bullock said that he told Day to tell Houston himself.

Stuart Henderson, appearing for the accused, asked the reason Bullock had refused to tell Houston the goods were coming in.

Bullock replied that he had seen goods of a similar nature coming in before, and as he had not ordered them he knew nothing about them he preferred to have nothing to do with them. Another reason was that he and Houston were at that time not on the best of terms. The next morning when Bullock got down to work there were boxes of candles and quantities of paint and red and white lead in drums. The candles bore the navy mark and the boxes were marked "Algerine," "Shearwater" and "Egeria."

The invoices look seized at the Victoria Machinery depot was produced and an invoice for the goods turned up. Bullock said it was his duty to certify to all goods, as storekeeper, and pass the invoice. An invoice marked September 13 was for goods from Day, which he had seen witness several times to get the bill passed, and witness told Day to see Houston, as witness had not ordered or passed the goods. Houston later told witness to pass the bill and he did so.

Replying to questions in cross-examination by Stuart Henderson, representing Day, witness said he did not know the goods were stolen nor had he ever said they were. He had not been promised money by the navy authorities; in fact, he was working on wages and was not being paid while at court. To his surprise he did not get any pay from the navy yard for last week during the time he was attending court. He was really out of pocket over the matter. Referring to the navy stores produced in court he was unable to identify any part of them as having been shipped by Day to the Victoria Machinery depot, although they were similar. Bullock said he thought it was perhaps two or three months before the account was paid to Day. The cheque from the company to Day was not in and it showed the payment had been six months late.

Peter Shandley, formerly a painter at the dock yard and now a customs employee, told of the seizure of paint and candles at the Victoria Machinery depot. He recognized the tins in court and those contained in the seizure at the time it was made as similar to the navy stores. He was unable to distinguish them, however, for asked to pick out two he had not seen. He said one Commander Vivian had brought from H. M. S. Shearwater. Commander Vivian was on the stand again during the afternoon for cross-examination, and after repeating similar evidence to that at the Spratt-Houston hearing he said there is no one in charge of naval stores except the carpenter and his mate, and the engineer and his mate, who do not report to the commander what they take out. The orders are sent to Hongkong to be filled and fresh supplies come from Hongkong naval station every four months.

The case is still before the court.

The Weir liner Boverie passed up to Vancouver this afternoon to load cargo for her return trip to Australia. The steamship is operating in the Australian Mail line and has just finished her repairs at San Francisco following her stranding on the Friendly Islands some time ago.

A meeting of the executive of the newly formed Victoria and Southern Vancouver Island Centre of St. John's Ambulance Association, took place last night at the city hall, Monday evening, in the chair. The meeting was called to make the final arrangements for the formation of instruction classes. The fee for membership in the classes for one series of lectures was fixed at $2.50. Several doctors of the city have promised to address the class meetings. The secretary was instructed to write to the police commissioners, the B. C. Electric Ry. Co., the C. P. R., the Fifth Regiment and the V. & S. Ry. Co., with a view to getting those companies to interest their employees in the ambulance work. The next meeting of the society will be held on July 10.

CHEQUE MAN TELLS OF HIS OWN SINS

Coronation Night Episode of Technical Assault Upon Girl is Dismissed

Complaining that all his sins were not disclosed, John C. Wylie, with the cheque habit, upbraided a witness in the police court this morning because the witness had told only of one bad cheque accused has issued instead of three. Eventually accused learned that the police have the three cheques and also something like thirty more which he had issued against a $2.50 credit with the B. C. Permanent Loan Company, Government street. On three cheques in separate charges this morning Wylie went to jail for a term of 15 months. He gave a $20 cheque to C. E. Delaway, a waiter at Steitz restaurant, and obtained $20 for it. From Little & Taylor, jewelers, he obtained a ring valued at $75, some jewelry of lesser value and $10 in cash, getting the firm to cash a cheque after 12 months' business dealings there. The ring was subsequently pawned. On these three charges he got 15 months and a three months' concurrent sentence for obtaining $5 from H. Seadenbaum on a bad cheque. The prisoner was formerly a waiter and is addicted to the "dope" habit.

The hilarity of coronation night celebrations resulted in the appearance of Tom Smith to face an accusing girl who claimed Smith had placed his arm round her waist while on Government street. The girl, Stella Purser, a resident of the Esquimalt Indian reserve, was in town with a girl friend and her mother. Accused accosted them at Yates and Government streets, and followed them from place to place, on three occasions placing his arm around the waist of Miss Purser, until to escape his impudent importunities the girl called the assistance of the police.

Magistrate Jay said while there may have been a technical assault, he himself, had been down town coronation night and he had no doubt one thousand technical assaults had been committed. The accused would have to pay his lawyer, W. C. Moreau, and the magistrate believed that would be punishment enough.

The accused was discharged. Owing to the heavy list of police court work the navy yard case against John Day was not reached and is being continued this afternoon.

POWER PLANT IN DANGER

Tacoma, Wash., June 27.—Word was received here last night from Longview, Spring, the summer resort on the side of Mount Rainier, that the steady rains of the last 24 hours have seriously endangered Tacoma's new $1,500,000 power plant at La Grande, now in the course of construction. The Nisqually river is reported to have risen rapidly to the highest point in five years, and all workmen in the vicinity have been sent to build a dyke which will prevent the river breaking over into an old course upon which the power plant is being built.

SUCCESSFUL CANDIDATES.

Ottawa, June 27.—List successful candidates trying for entrance to the Royal Military College, Kingston, includes Charles B. MacDonald, 384 Madison; John F. Ross, Magrath, Alb.; Cuthbert W. A. Barmis, Vancouver; James A. Denniston, Winnipeg; Edward O. C. Martin, Victoria; Cuthbert N. E. Nicholson, Vancouver; Fred W. Fordman, Winnipeg, and Reginald L. Spencer, Vancouver.

FATALLY INJURED.

Montreal, June 27.—Polydore Denis had the lower portion of his face blown off by a giant fire cracker and is dying. In the hospital he wrote on a paper the words, "Kindly give me chloroform."

—The Knights and East End Juniors will play at the North Ward Park to-night at 6:30. The East End team will be picked from the following: Robertson, Hawke, B. McIlroy, Cowan, Baker, McGregor, Morry, Finland, Campbell, Tubman, R. McIlroy, Pascoe. All players are asked to be on hand at 6:15 sharp.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary."

Coming to the Victoria theatre this evening is Miss Mary Robson in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." This exceptional play is undoubtedly one of the definite successes, since time only ripens its fame and interest. But much of this is due to the excellent characterization of Aunt Mary by Miss Robson, whose unctious, in the expression of humor is a rare gift.

The story is as follows: Aunt Mary, a generous, warm-hearted woman, is bound up in her nephew, who is rather inclined to be wild and irresponsible. She is a woman of wealth, alone in the world, except for the nephew and Lucinda, a maid, hence it is that her affection for her nephew is full of tenderness and motherly protection, and no appeal for this affection ever remains unanswered. Her life in retirement aided or rather enlarged her peculiar views of the great city until she regards it as a den of iniquity of the Sodoms and Gomorrah type, and her imagination did the rest to cement her prejudice. She looked after her nephew with a motherly solicitude and whenever he became involved in some boyish escapade, she would fly to his assistance. But the troubles of Jack became very frequent and more alarming and she determined to disinherit him, and turn him adrift when she hears of a breach-of-promise suit begun by a girl from Kalamazoo. That settled it.

One morning when in this mood, she receives a letter apprising her that Jack was down with the measles and her nervous excitement vividly increased as she prepared for an immediate journey. Nothing in the world would ever tempt her to visit New York except that Jack was ill or in trouble. She reaches him full of alarm only to find him enjoying himself with a number of friends. Jack and his companions take her everywhere and for three weeks Aunt Mary never balks—apparently the novelty pleases her.

her—she takes trips on dizzy merry-go-rounds, sight-seeing from the deck of a Fifth Avenue bus and from the rubber-neck wagons, roof gardens appealed to her, late dinner, cigarettes, and with Jack's sweetheart Betty, disguised as her own maid, wins her affections and gains Aunt Mary's consent to her marriage with Jack, and thus ends the rejuvenation of our Aunt Mary.

Miss Billie Burke and Her Characters. Charles Frohman made Miss Billie Burke a star in the autumn of 1908 and presented her first in "Love Watches," the piece in which she was seen here a year and a half ago. That was a pretty little comedy adapted from the French and in it Miss Burke had the role of Jacqueline, a wayward, wilful, petulant, spoiled, altogether lovable little bride, who, when she thinks her husband has deceived her, makes a most amusing and unsuccessful attempt to have a love affair of her own with a poor bookworm who has long been her devoted admirer.

Returning to New York from her first transcontinental tour as a star in "Love Watches" in January, 1910, the popular actress produced "Mrs. Dot" at the Lyceum theatre. This is the satirical comedy by W. Somerset Maugham in which she comes to the Victoria theatre on Thursday evening, June 29. After playing in it for several months in New York, she took it on tour and finished out the last season in it. She played it again at the beginning of the current season, but at Christmas she laid it aside for a short time to produce "Susanne" in New York. This was a Belgian comedy and Miss Burke made a pronounced hit in it.

"Mrs. Dot" is the actress' favorite play. In it she appears as a youthful English widow with loads of money who has to use strategy to capture her second husband. It is the best role she has had, say the critics.

EWART ON IMPERIALISM.

(From the Toronto Star.)

In his pamphlet on Imperialism, Mr. John S. Ewart quotes a very neat saying of Professor Freeman's about the phrase Imperialism. He said that the phrase was inaccurate; for the noun implies equality, and the adjective implies inequality. We some years ago substituted the word Imperialism for the much better words "British Connection"; and some misunderstanding would disappear if we went back from the fine word to the plain words. Mr. Ewart very properly points out that through misunderstanding of terms, very many persons who call themselves Imperialists are really Nationalists. For example, he told in a previous pamphlet of a Halifax politician who objected to independence, "but insisted that we should have every minutest fragment of self-government—which is, of course, independence. He was a Nationalist." We may add that when he said he objected to independence, he meant that he objected to separation.

The pains which are taken by Mr. Ewart to correct definitions and terms are well spent, because we often quarrel about terms rather than about things. Most of us are agreed that Canada ought to be governed by Canadians. Most of us are agreed that Canada can best provide for her own welfare and the welfare of the world by casting in her lot with the free British commonwealths of the United Kingdom, of Australia, of New Zealand, and of South Africa. But we shy away from terms. The staunch advocate of self-government is aghast when somebody utters the terrible word independence, because to him it means separation. The man who would be glad to see democratic New Zealand protected with the whole force of the Empire against some despotic power, does not like the word Imperialism because it conveys an impression of domination.

We do not want domination. We do not want centralization. We do not want separation. We want equality, unity, co-operation in advancing the standards of freedom and justice. It is for that reason that British connection ought to be maintained. It is for that reason that we should seek, not more sluggish peace, but active, free, cordial friendship with the United States and with every other nation which is moving toward freedom. We may not be able for the present to discard armies and navies, but we ought to have a clear idea how these destructive forces are to be used; not to have one peasant or workman slay his brother, but to sweep from the world the last vestiges of tyranny and injustice. When tyranny and injustice can no longer shelter themselves behind patriotism, there will be no more wars. In the meantime we ought to know what we are fighting for.

CARRIED OUT TO SEA.

Treemen, June 27.—One of the four balloons which ascended at Paris Saturday fell into the North Sea near the island of Jost, of the East Frisian group. Sunday. A violent storm prevailed at the time and the aerial craft was carried rapidly out to sea. Two persons were aboard her. The other three balloons made landings on the East Frisian coast. A rescue boat was sent out as soon as possible to the aid of the distressed balloon, but later returned, having recovered only an empty bag marked "R. O. B.-7."

Summer Things It Will Be Economy To Buy

This is the Right Place to Buy Your Summer Furniture

This is the Right Place to Buy Your Summer Furniture

SO many lose half the joy and comfort of the summer season through not having comfortable and attractive furniture and furnishings. There are so many comfort-giving things that are stylish and attractive in appearance and easily priced, that no one need be without them. The big majority of our Summer goods are things it will be economy to buy. A visit to this store will disclose many items that would add to your comfort and pleasure this season, and also make your city home, your Summer cottage or your camp very attractive in appearance. We invite you to come in and inspect the showing of our summery and cool suggestions suited to the season. These summer goods we show are priced at substantial savings. Come to-day and get the full benefit of the summer season.

Reed and Linen Fibre Chairs

First and foremost in the list is the magnificent display of these delightful Summer Chairs. Nothing more comfortable or more attractive than these designs in Reed and Linen Fibre Chairs. We offer an excellent variety of pleasing styles on our Fourth floor. Direct importations enable us to quote right prices. See what we offer in Chairs or Rockers from $4.00.

Camp Furniture—Folding Kind

Folding Camp Furniture, if it is strongly built, is desirable. It takes up but little room in the camp, and is easily packed because it is light and compact. We show the Gold Medal Camp Furniture and have a goodly supply of Stools, Chairs, Beds, Tables, Baths, etc. Come in and see the very best camp furniture made anywhere.

Swing in a Hammock—$1.75

The Hammock is the most sought corner of the summer camp. It is better to have two than one, so come and get another, if you already have one of these. We have many very attractive hammock styles, with prices showing a great latitude. Come in and choose from this big stock. Prices start as low as $1.75.

Famous Refrigerators

Our Refrigerators are acknowledged to be the most economical in ice consumption, and the ice consumption is a very important point to consider when you are purchasing a refrigerator. Otherwise you are liable to find that a few dollars saved on the purchase price will soon disappear in increased ice bills. We sell the refrigerator that is the best made in Canada in a big variety of styles, with prices starting as low as $16.

Summer Matting and Rugs

Floor coverings are desirable, even if not absolutely necessary. The cost is little, so why not secure some? We have some dainty patterns in China and Japan Matting, priced at 25¢ per yard.

Yukatori Squares are the popular summer floor coverings for the summer cottage. Come in and see our assortment.

Screen Doors and Windows

Keep the flies out of the home and a big portion of your summer worry will disappear. Get some of our Spring Doors and Window Screens and keep these summer pests out of the home.

WINDOW SCREENS, adjustable, from 25¢ SCREEN DOORS from $1.25

Ice Cream Freezers, $2.75

The Lightning Freezer makes light work of ice cream making—turns easy, freezes quickly, is economical on ice, and makes the most delicious ice cream. Make your own ice cream and be sure of the quality. Good pure ice cream is a food, and a healthy food. Come in and get one of these Lightning Freezers. All sizes. Prices start at $2.75.

Drink Pure Water

These hot days suggest Filters, because of the want to drink more water and the necessity of having it cool and pure. Try one of our Success Filters. These stoneware Filters will insure you a supply of water that is absolutely safe, and they don't cost much, and they will last you many years. Priced at $5.00.

THE DOULTON FILTER is also one we would like you to examine when visiting the store of "Summer Helps." Many homes are delighted with this filter, and the price is only $9.00.

"Newlyweds" Will Find This Store's Service A Great Help

WE invite you to make use of this store. If you have to purchase a wedding gift, you cannot do better than choose from our showing. Don't you think the SPECIALISTS in home-furnishing—people who make it their sole business—should be better qualified to furnish your home than one who thinks of home furnishings as a side line? For over half a century furnishing homes has been our sole and only business, and during that time we have furnished hundreds of homes for newly married couples. The experience we have gained is invaluable to those about to furnish their first home and our service is free-gratis.

No June brides or grooms should make any furniture or furnishing purchases without first inspecting our offerings and learning the advantages of trading here. You save money if you get your complete outfit here, and it's right here that you can get EVERYTHING. Come and learn why it pays to trade where the most furniture is shown and sold.

In our windows we have many suggestions for wedding gifts. Dainty things every June bride would be proud to possess and items that would be serviceable as well as ornamental in the new home. Even though there are many pieces shown in our windows, they are but a hint of the hundreds of pieces shown in ONE of our five floors. You cannot appreciate the wedding gift possibilities of this establishment without a visit to every floor. No other establishment in the city has such a variety of suitable and desirable gifts and none offers a greater variety in the matter of price, and the name WEILER on a wedding gift means quality. Let one of our many rigs deliver your gift.
